Priest is sentenced, resumes picketing

A "surprise" sentence providing that he celebrate mass and counsel inmates at the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville for 30 weekends was pronounced Friday for the Rev. Edwin F. Arentsen, a Catholic priest who was convicted of disorderly conduct following a demonstration at the Hope Clinic for Women in Granite City.

Associate Judge Thomas R. Gibbons sentenced Rev. Arentsen to 18 months probation and instructed him to go to the county jail at Edwardsville on "the prescribed day of worship of the Catholic faith (Sunday)" to celebrate mass and minister to the inmates of the jail.

Before entering the courtroom Friday afternoon, Rev. Arentsen remarked, "Let's just call this round one, and we'll (Pro-Lifers) have more rounds."

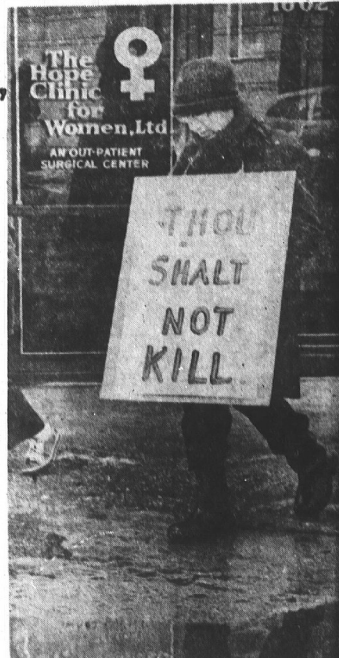

A jury of seven women and five men found the priest guilty of disorderly conduct charge on Feb. 16, one month after the disturbance at the clinic.

Before sentencing, a motion for a new trial was made by Attorney Richard Allen, counsel for Rev. Arentsen, but it was denied by Associate Judge Gibbons.

The sentence came as a surprise to Rev. Arentsen who had said on several occasions that he would go to jail for the 30 days, the maximum jail term for the misdemeanor charge.

Judge Gibbons stressed that the probation could be revoked if Rev. Arentsen violates any penal statute of any jurisdiction.

Court dismisses sanitary district injunction suit

Seven layoffs of clerical workers at the Metro-East Sanitary District offices in Washington, Park, were turned by the district board of trustees Friday following a Circuit Court ruling at Belleville dismissing an injunction order that would have prevented the board from laying off more workers.

The seven employees who were laid off Friday were among 16 taken off their jobs by a 4 to 2 vote of the sanitary district board on Feb. 28. The other nine continue in their jobs. The Feb. 28 action resulted in the injunction proceedings filed by the mayors of seven St. Clair County communities charging that a reduction in the district payroll would hamper flood control operations.

The suit alleged the layoffs would endanger property within the seven cities and villages at a time when the spring thaw of ice and snow has begun.

Chief Circuit Judge Joseph

Cunningham, following a hearing Thursday morning, ruled there was insufficient evidence to merit his ordering the district board not to commit discretionary acts.

Cunningham stated that the "mere apprehension" that flood control activities would be limited was not sufficient for him to order an injunction. His ruling dismissed a temporary injunction issued upon filing of the suit on March 4.

The controversy over layoffs results from the fact that the district is broke, with only $4,800 in funds on hand. The district has been unable to borrow operating funds through the sale of anticipation bonds because of court proceedings that are pending over the appointment of a fifth board member.

Man arrested after scuffle with officer

Responding to a call to aid a stranded motorist at 12:10 a.m. Friday, an officer found the driver of an auto attempting to free his car from a snowbank on Madison Avenue, just north of 15th Street.

After dislodging the vehicle, the man pulled into a parking lot near the squad car and while alighting he reportedly staggered and nearly fell down. Asked to show his driver's license, the man reportedly refused and cursed the officer, telling him "to drive away while you can," police reported.

When advised he was under arrest the man pushed the policeman backward, causing a walkie-talkie radio to slide under the squad car. A struggle ensued, during which the officer's trousers were torn. Other policemen were called and force was needed to handcuff the man, police said.

Francis D. Hughes, 22, of 1745 Walnut St., was taken by police to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated for a 1 1/2-inch cut to the right side of the head. He had sutures taken.

Hughes was released to police and taken to headquarters, where he was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct and released on payment of $70 cash bond.

Reinstates Vincent as sheriff dispatcher

Michael Vincent of Granite City, who was fired by Madison County Sheriff John Maeras from his duties as a dispatcher Jan. 3, was reinstated at 8 a.m. Friday under terms of a federal judge.

Maeras dismissed Vincent after he refused to take a leave of absence while campaigning for the Democratic nomination for sheriff. Maeras, who is not seeking re-election, said remaining on the department while a candidate violated the rules of the Merit Commission.

Vincent contended he was not bound by the rules of the Merit Commission, because he is a civilian dispatcher and not a deputy.

Vincent also said he felt he was fired because he made statements critical of Maeras to the department's operations during a Merit Commission hearing for former Deputy Richard Anderson of Granite City.

A suit was filed in federal court challenging the firing. Judge J. Waldo Ackermann Thursday ruled in Vincent's behalf and ordered him reinstated. The ruling followed two days of testimony last week, at Alton and Springfield.

Maeras was among those who testified a week ago in Springfield. Judge Ackermann set another hearing for this morning to help clarify questions in the case, but then ruled Thursday, without deciding the financial aspects of the case. Vincent is seeking $100,000 in damages from Maeras.

The sheriff's department announced Vincent's reinstatement in a press release Friday which stated, "Pursuant to injunction order issued by Federal District Court Judge J. Waldo Ackermann on Thursday, Michael R. Vincent is resuming duties as a communications technician at the Madison County Sheriff's Department, effective at 8 a.m. Friday."

The Madison County Sheriff's Department will not comment further on this matter after consulting with Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Donald Smith, who has represented the sheriff's department in this matter.

Smith considers this matter still to be a pending case in the federal courts and, therefore, does not want this office to comment further on this action.

National Education Association.

Mr. Grigsby was president of the Granite City Rotary Club, Southwestern High School Conference and Tri-City Chamber of Commerce, and chairman of the Coordinated Youth Services, Red Cross drive, Community Chest 1943 campaign, Boy Scout district Community Unit School Superintendents. He was active on the YMCA and Salvation Army boards.

He was presented its top award, the Silver Beaver, by the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council and was the 1961 recipient of the annual outstanding citizen award of the Associated Retailers and Civic Association.

Born in Fayette, he recalled that his first job was at the age of seven when he was employed on a grocery store delivery wagon, holding the mules while food was being delivered. His 25-cents-a-week pay went to help his widowed mother. He also had a newspaper carrier route, and throughout grade and high school he continued working for the same food store, as delivery boy and eventually as assistant manager.

Driving tent stakes and handling other tasks, he worked six summers as a young adult for the Redfern Chautauque, a touring entertainment troupe.

After completing his college education, he served as a school teacher and was a principal in Huntville, Webb City and Sedalia. He headed the Missouri State Principals Association for two years.

Mr. Grigsby moved to Granite City in 1932. There will be visitation tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock at the McLaughlin Funeral Home, Sedalia.

Visitation also is planned for 12 noon to 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Patton Funeral Home, Huntville, Mo., and the funeral will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Patton's. Burial will take place at the Huntville cemetery.

Henkhaus would avoid 'lug'

Michael Henkhaus of Bethalto, a Democratic candidate for county treasurer, issued a statement today that he would avoid what he regards as a long-standing practice of assessing a political "lug" on employees, if he wins the March nomination and the November general election.

He alleged the "lug" is a practice of assessing employees of some county offices 1.5 percent of gross pay. This assessment, to insure job protection for the employee and to help finance the campaign of the officeholder, he added.

"Having been assessed the lug myself, I am particularly sensitive to the evils of that type of system. It is much more practical and equitable to have the candidate for office raise his funds in the traditional manner of holding dinners, coffees and rallies," Henkhaus said.

"Secondly, public employees now have a very effective and competent union, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, to represent them and offer effective job protection."

"As a past member of the AFSCME union, I can state without hesitation that this is far more efficient means of helping the public employee to come along than to add a political lug on top of union dues."

Patrick Ouchowski, 21, of 3327 Johnson Road, faces five traffic charges after his auto allegedly was chased from 25th Street and Nameoki Road to Route 162 and to Plum and Reynolds streets in Madison at 10 p.m. Sunday.

Police alleged the auto violated the red lights on Nameoki Road at 25th, 23rd and 21st streets, was speeding at 56 miles-per-hour in a 45 mph zone on Route 162 between 21st Street and Nameoki Road, and was attempting to elude police.

He was brought from Madison to the Granite City Jail where he was held until posting $100 cash bond at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Ill. Power promotes Harrison

Marion I. Harrison, manager of Illinois Power Company's Centralia district, has been promoted to manager of the Sparta service area, replacing A. R. Cairns, who will retire April 1 after 41 years, Vice President W. E. Warren announced.

Harrison was born and raised in Granite City and his father, Ivan, resides at 252 Cleveland Blvd., Granite City.

Cairns has been manager of the Sparta service area since Sept. 1, 1955, and has spent his entire 41-year career in Sparta.

Harrison, the new manager-designate of Sparta, joined Illinois Power on Dec. 7, 1948, as a commercial clerk in the Granite City service area. He moved to Gillespie in February 1952 as a commercial office supervisor, moved to Hillsboro three years later in the same capacity, and then went to Belleville one year later, also in the same capacity.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY BURKETT whose wedding was solemnized at Tri-City Park Tabernacle. Formerly Miss Sharon-Lynn York, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph York, 3345 Palm Ave.

Sharon York marries Jerry Wayne Burkett

Tri-City Park Tabernacle was the scene of the wedding on Feb. 10 of Miss Sharon-Lynn York, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph York, 3345 Palm St., and Jerry Wayne Burkett, a son of Mrs. Lila Simmons of Venice.

The Rev. Henry Crippen assisted by the Rev. Gordon Nelson, performed a double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Organist Jean Keeling played and sang, "Because" and "Twelfth of Never" preceding the arrival of the bride.

The bride wore a floor length traditional white Chantilly lace gown featuring long sleeves set into the bodice with a Sabrina neckline and V-waistline.

Her slightly full skirt fell softly into a cathedral train. She wore a beaded crown to secure her Chantilly lace veil and she held a cascade of red roses with white carnations and greenery.

Mrs. Brenda York, a sister-in-law of the bride, served as honor attendant. She chose an old fashioned Empire style orchid organza dress designed with a scoop neckline, edged with a double ruffle which also formed short sleeves.

Bridesmaids Miss Laura Howard and Miss Rhonda Schillinger selected identical gowns in yellow and mint green. Each attendant held an arrangement of carnations and pom poms in shades of orchid, yellow and mint green with greenery.

Julie Burkett, a daughter of the groom, was flower girl. She was dressed in a floor length white ruffled lace frock with short sleeves, over orchid taffeta.

She carried a basket of multi color blossoms.

Mike Jensen, the groom's cousin, served as ringbearer. The groom chose his brother, Danny Poston, as best man. Gary York, the bride's brother, Don Jennings, a brother of the groom, Leo Cook and Dennis Britt, cousins of the bride couple, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

A reception for guests was given in the church hall immediately following the service. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. York wore a formal peach color gown, and the groom's mother was attired in a long aqua green dress. Both wore carnations corsages in hues to match their gowns.

The former Miss York is a South High School graduate and works at the church. Her husband graduated from Madison High School and is employed as a painter at American Steel Industries.

They are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Springfield, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE NOETH. They were married on Feb. 3, at St. Albert the Great Catholic Church, Fairview Heights, Ill. The bride is the former Mary Susan Baumgartner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Baumgartner, 34 Oak Drive, Caseyville. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Noeth, 2327 St. Bernard Ave., Granite City. The newly married couple are both employed by the Collinsville School District 10, at the Vandalia campus.

Wanda Littlejohn is engaged

The engagement and plans for an April wedding of Miss Wanda Gail Littlejohn and the Rev. Ransom K. Talley of Granite City, are being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Littlejohn, 388 Lynchburg, Memphis, Tenn.

Rev. Talley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Talley, 1044 Princeton Ave. He attended local schools and graduated as class president from Granite City High School South in 1966.

The prospective groom attended Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, for two years on a Music Scholarship, and later enrolled in Bethany Bible College in Santa Cruz, Calif., where he graduated with a B.S. Degree in Science and the Bible in 1968. He was also a student at Cabrille College in Santa Cruz.

Miss Littlejohn is presently employed as a dental assistant. She attended Memphis State University for one year and Union University in Jackson, Miss., for two years.

The betrothed couple plan to be married on April 9, at the First Assembly of God Church in Memphis. After a honeymoon trip, the couple will make their home in Memphis where Rev. Talley is serving as youth pastor for the First Assembly of God Church.

BRIDE-TO-BE Miss Wanda Gail Littlejohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Talley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Talley, 1044 Princeton Ave. Their engagement is being announced by the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Littlejohn, Memphis, Tenn. An April 9 wedding is planned.

Pastor Lawrence Meinzen performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening. Guitar music sung by Larry Smallie and Mrs. Vicki Simpson included "Time in a Bottle," "Evergreen," "Wedding Song," "Our Father," and "Follow Me."

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Krpan of Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonnell of Granite City.

For her wedding, the bride chose a two-piece ensemble of ivory jersey knit. The floor length spaghetti strap clip dress was enhanced by a short sleeve accordion pleated jacket. The pearl trimmed mandarin collar, sleeves and jacket were also accented with Brussels lace.

In her hair, the bride wore baby's breath. She carried a nosegay of ivory and pink silk roses with pink silk dogwood blossoms and dried baby's breath.

Mrs. Donna McBride was the maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of dusty rose Quiana. The bodice featured triangular panels, which fell from the square neckline to the waist in front and back. A soft bow accented the back of the gown.

She carried a nosegay of pink silk roses, pink silk dogwood blossoms and dried baby's breath.

Attending the ceremony as best man was Harold Zellin, brother-in-law of the groom. Miss Deborah Krpan, sister of the bride, served as the usher.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Granite City. Mrs. Kathleen Kube, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Other assisting at the reception were Mrs. Janet Zellin and Mrs. Viola Kraviec, sisters of the groom, and Mrs. Marilyn Miller, niece of the groom.

The bride is a teacher at Parkway School in Granite City. The groom is a sales supervisor for Monroe Calculator Co., St. Louis. The couple will reside in Granite City.

Father James L. Neuman officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Beverly Scroggins sang, "Hallelujah," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Crawshaw.

For her wedding the former Miss Law wore a full length organza gown fashioned with long sleeves, high neckline and fitted bodice, accented with seed pearls.

A melody length veil, bordered with lace, was secured to a lace headband and she carried a nosegay of red roses, pink and white carnations and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Sheryl Grote, a sister of the bride, and bridesmaids included Miss Lori Winters and Miss Karen Pese. They selected identical street length floral chiffon dresses with puff sleeves, in violet, maroon, pink and white blues on a cream color background. The attendants were pink daisies and baby's breath headbands in their hair and they held nosegays of pink and white carnations, intermingled with baby's breath.

Jim Nolan attended the groom as best man. Steve Bowers and Alan Briner were groomsmen and Steve Eaton, a brother of the bride, was the candlelighter.

A reception was held in the church hall immediately following the ceremony. The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Charlie's Restaurant.

Mrs. Eaton, mother of the bride, was attired in a powder blue polyester dress fashioned with long sleeves and a high neckline.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Hayes, appeared in a formal length white eyelet gown enhanced with pink ribbon trim.

Schedule hearings on home insulation

The Illinois Energy Resources Commission will hold two public hearings on the insulation industry, the first to be held on April 10 at 10 a.m. in Room C-1 of the Wm. G. Stratton Office Building in Springfield, and the second in Chicago on April 17 at 10 a.m. Room 1818 of the State of Illinois Building, 160 North LaSalle St. The hearings were announced by Representative Joe Lucco (D-Edwardsville), the commission's chairman. Lucco stated, "Adequate insulation for all Illinois homes is a key state energy conservation goal. The home insulation industry is making great progress. However, during this current heating season, in many areas of the state, demand for some forms of insulation far exceeded supply. Through the hearings, we want to point out the energy conservation benefits of insulation; and, at the same time, gather background data which will lay the groundwork for a stronger and better organized state insulation program."

The Illinois Energy Resources Commission is expected to be assisted at the hearings by state and federal energy agencies. Participation is also expected by the Illinois manufacturers, distributors, and consumers.

For further information Quad-Cityans may contact Representative Lucco, 109 Purcell St., Edwardsville, 62025; or Donald G. Handy, staff director, Illinois Energy Resources Commission, 713 Wm. G. Stratton Building, Springfield, Ill. 62706 or call 217-782-8220.

Urges Illinoisans to prepare for disaster

In a proclamation declaring the month of March as Disaster Preparedness Month throughout Illinois, Governor R. Thompson, quoted Thomas Jefferson by stating, "The care of human life and happiness is the first and only legitimate object of good government."

The proclamation continued, "With belief in that credo, the State Emergency Preparedness Program personnel responded swiftly and effectively to more than 700 disasters in 1977 caused by drought, tornadoes, winter storms and rail and highway transportation incidents involving hazardous materials and nuclear shipments."

In Illinois, more than 40,000 volunteers and 500 Emergency Services coordinators participated in training exercises and response activities during 1977.

The citizens of Illinois can be justifiably proud of the faithful commitment and impressive record of service by these loyal volunteers.

"To support the work of these dedicated people on our behalf, I urge all citizens of Illinois to practice emergency preparedness in their homes and communities."

"Therefore, I, James R. Thompson, governor of the State of Illinois, proclaim March 1978 Disaster Preparedness Month."

"I encourage public awareness of the threat of disasters and of the important role the State Emergency Preparedness Program participants play in our safety."

For further information Quad-Cityans may contact Representative Lucco, 109 Purcell St., Edwardsville, 62025; or Donald G. Handy, staff director, Illinois Energy Resources Commission, 713 Wm. G. Stratton Building, Springfield, Ill. 62706 or call 217-782-8220.

Scholarships offered

"As in past years, legislative scholarships available through my office will be offered during the spring of 1978, to the most deserving students in the 56th Legislative District who apply, based upon the ability scholarship, and relative need of the applicants," State Rep. Everett G. Steele reports.

"Selections will be made by a non-partisan Citizens' Advisory Committee, composed of Mrs. Robert Deave of Granite City, past president of the Madison County Home Extension; Mrs. Gertrude Cotter of Godfrey, former Alton Chamber of Commerce official; Mrs. Stuart Potter of Edwardsville, president of the Lewis and Clark library system; and Gerald A. Webb of Glen Carbon, a vocational director.

Four one-year scholarships will be available to the University of Illinois, and a total of four one-year scholarships will be available to other Illinois state universities. The award provides tuition.

Interested students should request, application and reference forms by writing on or before April 1 to Rep. Everett G. Steele, 1314 N. Dearborn Ave., Granite City.

"I wish to remind graduating students that, where financial need is especially acute, the Illinois Scholarship Commission, 102 Wilmet Rd., Deerfield, Ill. 60015, will provide assistance based primarily upon financial considerations."

Nashville rolls to Class A state championship

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
CHAMPAIGN — The newest Illinois Class A (750 enrollment or less) champion operates like a surgeon.

Posed, patient and precise, the Nashville Hornets rose to the top of the Class A world here Saturday night and grabbed a 53-38 decision from Havana and in the process won the state championship.

The Hornets had to come from behind in all three of their Assembly Hall games. They had to do it in all four of the state tourney games, including their win over Metropolis last week in the Carbondale Super Sectional.

Nashville was down by six points on three occasions in the first half of the championship game. But they held Havana scoreless for seven minutes in the second quarter and rose to a 22-16 halftime lead in one of the lowest scoring championship games ever.

Finding themselves in a 28-28 tie late in the third quarter, Nashville put on a streak in which they outscored Havana 10-0 in less than four minutes and then resorted to ball-control to protect its lead.

NASHVILLE coach Bob Bogles' troops finished with a 30-3 record. They also kept the state title in Southern Illinois, with Madison having won it last year. The farthest north school which has ever won the Class A crown is Mt. Pulaski two years ago. Mt. Pulaski is situated near Springfield.

Nashville used the same offensive pattern it used all season. Passing from the guards and scoring from their big front line. Paul Patton, a 6-2 center, scored 12 points in the second half to finish with a game-high of 18 points. He also won the tournament scoring title with 73 points in four games, counting the super sectional.

The "twin towers," 6-4 guards Roger Jankowski and Roger Steig, added 12 and 13 points, respectively. Nashville had barely survived a scare Saturday afternoon in WEST FRANKFORT — It'll be Collinsville and Olney battling it out tomorrow night in Carbondale to see which team will represent Southern Illinois at the IHSA Class AA (751 enrollment or more) state finals in Champaign Friday and Saturday.

Collinsville made it to the "Sweet Sixteen" by virtue of their 79-45 romp over Belleville East Friday night in the championship game of the East St. Louis Sectional, which was played at Alton because of threats on the life of Kahok coach Vergil Fletcher.

OLNEY, sporting a 21-4 record, made it to the super sectional with a heart-stopping 78-69 win over Centralia in the West Frankfort Sectional.

The game will be played in the SIU Areen at 7:30 p.m. "Anything we've done this year is almost like a bonus," said Olney coach Herrin.

The reason being that there isn't a single star on the squad. The Tigers won the North Egypt Conference championship. Collinsville shared the Southwestern Conference crown with East St. Louis.

COLLINSVILLE coach Vergil Fletcher feels his club has peaked at the right time of the season.

"I feel we're playing our best ball of the season," he said. "I guess that's the best time of the year to be doing it."

Collinsville will be led by its "big three," Kevin Stallings, a 6-3 guard, Steve Ray, a 6-4 forward and John Holobraydic, a 6-7 center.

Olney will be paced by 6-3 junior forward Darnell Jones, who is averaging 28.5 points per game. He scored 30 points in the Tigers' victory over Centralia Friday.

"I KNOW we have to play our best possible game and make relatively few turnovers," said Herrin.

"But Herrin (Ill.) beat Collinsville in the Carbondale Tournament and Belleville Althoff took them into overtime after being beaten pretty badly by Centralia, so I think we may have at least a chance."

"They'll be trying to work inside on us," he added. "They're bigger than us and will try and take advantage of it."

"We're getting the good shots early, but they wouldn't drop for us," said Nashville coach Bob Bogles. "Then we went to the man-to-man defense to try and speed things up a bit, hoping it would carry over to our movement on offense."

"We'll be back next year," shouted jubilant Nashville fans. They may be. Steig and Jankowski will be back and Bogles said, "We'll be seven or eight deep. We may be a bit more flexible."

"They do the same things we do," he continued. "But they do them a little better ... at least they did tonight."

"They are among the best-coached teams I've seen," he said. "They're victory over Providence showed that, and their win tonight reinforced it."

BEHIND 14-4 early in the second quarter, Nashville went methodically on a 14-4 tear for its 22-16 halftime lead, Patton breaking a 16-16 tie with a 16-footer, then adding a basket on Barry Morris' pass. When the time came for the last shot of the period, Mike Borowiak made it from 15 feet out.

Steelerettes advance to regional; smash Wood River, 53-45

EAST ST. LOUIS — Led by Cheryl Schoolfield's 23 points, the Granite City North Steelerettes rolled over Wood River 53-45 here Friday night to claim the championship of the East St. Louis sub-regional tournament.

North now will advance to its own regional which starts tonight at Memorial Gym on the GCHS South campus.

The Steelerettes dominated the game early, grabbing a 5-0 lead after two and a half minutes of play.

Then it was Schoolfield's turn. Over a 10-minute stretch in the first and second quarters, she scored 14 straight points to give North a 20-13 lead after the half to finish with a game-high of 18 points.

But with 40 seconds remaining in the second quarter, Wood River's Sarah Ollers had fought back.

Press-Record Sports

Wood River actually grabbed a lead. They had things going their way for about a two minute stretch, taking the lead on a Cathy Rule basket.

But Schoolfield's hot hand from the floor and the rebounding strength of the Steelerettes never allowed the Lady Ollers to get back into the game after North had retaken the lead.

"I think we wanted it more than they did," said North coach Lee Obermoller. "We wanted to play in our own regional tournament next week."

In tonight's first game, South's Warriorettes, who automatically advanced to the regional without the need for sub-regional play, will face off against Cahokia at 7 p.m.

Tomorrow night, East St. Louis Lincoln will face the winner of tonight's first game at 7 p.m. and East St. Louis Senior will play the winner of the North-Assumption game at 8:30.

The championship of the tournament will be Thursday night at 7:30.

12 feet six inches for his fourth place showing.

The next action for South will be tonight at 4 o'clock at Riverview Gardens in a make up of a meet which was postponed because of last week's snowfall. South will return the favor tomorrow afternoon by hosting Riverview Gardens at 4 p.m.

North will participate Saturday in the Illinois State University International beginning at 9 a.m.

Madison High School will begin its outdoor season today, weather permitting, at O'Fallon at 4 p.m.

Trojans fall, 36-35

MADISON — Close, but no cigar.

That sums up the feeling of Madison coach Carol Stearns following her Madison Lady Trojans' 36-35 season-ending loss in sub-regional play to Wood River here Thursday night.

"We didn't really have much of a chance to practice," said Stearns. "With the bad weather, we couldn't get everybody here at once and we only had one practice session in over a week."

After seeing the lead change hands five times in the fourth quarter, Wood River finally opened a three-point lead with less than a minute remaining.

Madison's Alesia Jones hit a desperation shot with six seconds left in the game, but it was too little too late.

"Madison played a real scrappy game," said Wood River coach David Claytor.

"But this has to be the worst we've played all year."

THE TROJANS had brief leads of one point several times during the game, but couldn't break away from the Ollers.

The game had been delayed twice, having originally been scheduled for Tuesday night.

Early turnovers and fouls showed that each team was a bit rusty after the layoff and delays.

The Trojans were led in scoring by Jones who scored 15 points.

Optimism . . . Venice's Henry leads McKendree returnees

LEBANON — McKendree College basketball fans have good reason to eye the 1978-79 campaign optimistically considering the fact that three of this season's four double-figure scorers will be back in uniform.

Leading that elite group will be Fairview Heights freshman Gary Haverman, who paced the Bears last year in both scoring and rebounding with 17.48 points and 7.6 rebounds per game. The six-foot-six center is the younger brother of Dale, who led the McKendree attack last season with 25 points per game. He was subsequently drafted by the Seattle Super-sonics of the National Basketball Association.

On Gary Haverman's heels this year was Venice Junior Mike Henry, who despite being hampered by knee and ankle injuries, averaged 17.41 points and grabbed 6.3 atry shots. Although he appeared in only 17 of McKendree's 26 games this season, Henry led the team in field goal percentage (.523 of 211, 383) and held the individual one-game high for most points (30 vs. Blackburn), most field goals (13 of 17 vs. Southwest Baptist) and shared most rebounds with Haverman as each grabbed 16 against Blackburn.

Senior Barry Harris will be one sorely missed next season since the six-foot-six product of Highland High School, cannot 15.6 points per game and appeared in all 26 Bearcat contests. Harris was doubly from the charity stripe and held the single game high with 11 of 13 free throws against North Central College.

Junior playmaker Rod Zobrist, a transfer from Belleville Area College, came on strong in the final half of the campaign and closed with a 11.33 clip. The Highland product led his teammates in accuracy from the stripe also, hitting 44 of 55 for an even 80 percent.

McKendree closed its twelfth season under Coach Harry Statham with a 15-11 mark.

Youth baseball teams, players sought in GC

The Granite City Park District is in need of more baseball teams to fill the leagues in its summer youth baseball program.

Also, any boys becoming eight through 17 years old this year — wishing to play baseball this summer, and not yet committed to a team — should call the park office at 277-3009 to put their names on an eligibility list, a spokesman said.

The following leagues have openings for teams: Atom One — 4 teams; Bantam One — 2 teams; Bantam Two — 1 team; Midget One — 1 team; Midget Two — 3 teams; Juvenile Two — 3 teams; and Junior League — 5 teams.

"If you wish to get into any of these leagues, please contact the park office as soon as possible the spokesman added.

"In addition, for the information of the parents of boys who played in last summer's program, the following teams have dropped from the leagues and the prospective managers have released all of the boys on their rosters.

"11 year olds — Eagles; 12 year olds — Dudley Radiator Bombers; 13 year olds — Burger Chef and GC Steel Credit Union; 14 year olds — Blue Jays; 15 year olds — Metro East Industrial Supply and VFW.

"Any boys who played on these teams last year and who have not yet agreed to play on another team for the summer should contact the Park Office soon and get their names on the list so other managers can have the opportunity to pick them for this summer's program."

Thornburg and Stoyanoff are Mr. and Miss School Spirit

Eric W. Thornburg, 17, and Dawn Stoyanoff, 17, both seniors at Granite City High School North, were chosen last week as Mr. and Miss School Spirit.

Thornburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thornburg, 2565 Buenger Blvd. He is president of the North Lettermen's Club and on the soccer team. Vice-president of the North Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Thornburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thornburg, 2565 Buenger Blvd. He is president of the North Lettermen's Club and on the soccer team. Vice-president of the North Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Thornburg plans to attend Cornell University in New York. Miss Stoyanoff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stoyanoff, 8 Holiday Mobile Home Park. She is a cheerleader in all sports and a member of the National Honor Society.

Candidates are nominated by the faculty club sponsors and the top three boys and three girls are placed on the ballot. Voting is done by all players in fall sports and members of the Silver Spirit Club.

GC wrestlers place in freestyle

FORT MADISON, IOWA — Nine Granite City wrestlers traveled here over the weekend to compete in the Fort Madison Freestyle Wrestling Tournament.

North's Khris Whelan took first place honors at the 123 pound class. South's Sam Perkins placed third at 142 pounds and Brett Smith, who started the season wrestling for North, transferred to West Frankfort and has now re-enrolled at GHS North, placed fourth at 123 pounds.

Other Granite Cityans making the trip were Don King and Dean Perkins from South and Bob Kirgan, Allen Kirgan, Terry Miller and Tracy Patton from North.

A good nucleus . . . banquet that the future is bright

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City South basketball Warriors celebrated their first winning season in six years here Thursday night with their annual awards banquet held in the South High School cafeteria.

"We've come a long way," South head coach Don Deterding told the crowd. "We were 8-16 last year, 13-12 this season . . . I feel things are really looking up for basketball here at South."

"We've got a good nucleus coming back for next year," he said. "When one is first starting out in this world, he can't run at first. First he crawls, which we did last year; then he walks, which we did this year; and then he runs, which we think we can do in years to come."

Deterding told the group he wants South basketball to get back to where it once was. "I want you to really experience March Madness next year . . . and the next and the next," he said. "I know it's going to be hard, but I'm not going to be satisfied until we get to the 'big house,' the Assembly Hall in Champaign . . . and not just as observers."

Deterding said, "This has been the finest defensive team I've ever coached. But to be a complete team you've got to put the ball up. We've got to average 50 percent from the floor; one thing we didn't do this past season."

Looking toward the future, Deterding voiced optimism. "We've got a fine nucleus," he said. "Plus, we have good size coming up from this year's sophomore team. We should be all right in coming seasons."

Deterding and assistant coach Mike Harmon handed out varsity award letters to 10 athletes: sophomores Lee Heubner and James Blasingsame, juniors Jeff Vaughn, Jeff Parker and Jeff Tretter, and seniors Tom Hennrich, Terry Angle, Tom Mahl, Rich Mosby and Greg Feigl.

The most valuable player award went to both Hennrich and Angle. Mahl received the most-improved player award. The best defensive player award went to Parker.

The free throw award, which goes to the player with the highest average at the charity stripe, went to Mahl. The Cameron Van Buijk Award for the outstanding sophomore went to Heubner. Hennrich received the Pat Rich Scholarship Award for the member of the team with the highest grade-point average. Junior varsity awards were handed out to Steve Spencer and Mike DeGonia.

South Boosters to meet tonight

The Granite City High School South Boosters Club will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow (Tuesday) night at 7:30 in room 159-B at the high school.

Subjects to be discussed will be the Fourth of July project, the lighting fund, and various reports on projects under consideration, according to Franz Feigl, club president.

New program to unite construction industry

A program to unite all elements of the construction industry in Southern Illinois in promoting growth and understanding of the industry, will be launched March 16 at a luncheon at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville.

IMAGE, an acronym for Involvement and Management Advance, Growth and Employment, is a cooperative effort that will unite labor, management and buyers of construction to enhance the construction economy of the area which includes the Quad-Cities.

Dr. Kenneth Shaw, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon, which will also be attended by state and federal officials.

A memorandum of understanding of the IMAGE guidelines for contractors, unions, designers and owners will be signed at the luncheon.

Over 40 management and labor groups will be signatory to the memorandum. Officers of major groups, acting as representatives at the signing include: C. E. Kuldell, executive director, Council of Contractor Associations, representing the owners; William Horstman, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Illinois Building and Construction Trades Council, for labor; Ralph Korte, president of the Southern Illinois Builders Association, for the contractors; Kenneth Kosar, president, Southern Illinois Chapter, American Institute of Architects, and Richard Bartelbort, president, Consulting Engineers, for the designers.

Byron Farrell, vice president of G. Heimann Excavating and Trucking Co., Wood River, and Robert A. Weiss, business manager of Bricklayers' Local 65 of Southwestern Illinois.

The IMAGE program — the first industry-wide development program in the history of the Southern Illinois construction industry — is expected to bring to public attention improvements made within the area construction industry in recent years, as well as providing a vehicle for further improvements.

The memorandum of understanding has specific provisions for buyers of construction, architects-engineers, contractors and unions, and is designed to promote productivity, reduce unnecessary building costs, and generally make the economics of building in Southern Illinois more desirable.

Owner representative Kuldell said, "IMAGE has unlimited potential as a vehicle which will allow construction users, labor, contractors and designers to meet on a relaxed basis and gain an appreciation for each other's problems."

IMAGE is patterned after the St. Louis construction industry's successful PRIDE program.

Co-chairman Weiss remarked that, "This is something we've been needing for a long period. We've seen the results of PRIDE, and we want to be just as successful in changing an image of our industry that we really do not merit."

"One objective of IMAGE will be to get the true story about our industry before the public. Few people realize that there has not been a work stoppage here for four or five years."

Horstman echoed Weiss' remarks, saying, "We are living with an image that we may have deserved 20 years ago, but certainly don't deserve now. We can show letters of satisfaction from numerous customers who have been exceptionally pleased with the work and the economy with which it was completed. We can show people that Southern Illinois is a good place to work."

Co-chairman Farrell said that the contractors "are certainly enthused about becoming involved with the other segments of our industry in the formation of IMAGE. This has to be one of the most exciting innovations that has ever appeared on the area construction scene."

Contractor president Korte reiterated the need for IMAGE by pointing to one benefit which, he said, "alone will make IMAGE worthwhile. That benefit is that labor and management will be meeting on a monthly basis in a calm atmosphere with but one purpose in mind — promoting the industry for the welfare of all concerned. This is a lot better than meeting in an adversary role when trying to settle a dispute."

"Another benefit, one which I think is just as important, is that we will be doing everything we can to make construction more economical and productive for the buyer."

"A program that will go a long way toward changing the climate and image of our industry will become a reality on March 16."

O'Neill backs Scaffold act

State Senate Candidate of the 56th District Dan O'Neill charged last week that his opponent, incumbent Senator Sam M. Vadalabene opposes the Scaffold or Structural Work Act.

"As a matter of fact, he has introduced legislation that would have completely stripped the act of its protection against owners' and contractors' liability. I don't see how any carpenter, bricklayer, laborer or any union man can vote for him after he has done this," O'Neill said.

"And he's still trying to sink it. If he is running on his record, it should be the whole record. The act was passed to protect the building tradesman and the laborer against injury on the job. Sam Vadalabene is on record against this act and ought to account for it," O'Neill added.

O'Neill pledged his own support of the act as it is, and called on organized labor to join his campaign effort to unseat the incumbent.

Primary nursing care puts patient on personal basis

By JINNY TUETKEN
The week of March 12 through March 18 has been designated Illinois Nurses' Week by Governor James R. Thompson. Commending nurses as "men and women dedicated to serving the sick and injured," he also noted that in 1978 Illinois Nurses' Week is being celebrated during the "Year of the Nurse" declared by the American Nurses Association.

The ANA designed the "Year of the Nurse" to inform the public about what nurses do and to emphasize nursing's contribution to health care. In keeping with the theme of Illinois Nurses' Week, St. Elizabeth Hospital is moving in the direction of a primary nursing care system. If patient Charles Geer and Loyce Phillips were asked if anything was lacking in their nursing care during their hospitalization, they probably would answer "anonymity." For Phillips and Geer knew for certain they were receiving well-rounded nursing care and they knew exactly who was giving that care to them. Phillips and Geer were patients on the fifth floor of the St. Elizabeth Hospital Doctors' Wing, one of two medical floors operating on a primary care nursing system.

Under primary care nursing, one assigned nurse administers total care to a patient while she is on duty, and also plans this patient's 24-hour care throughout his hospitalization. The significance is that each patient has a nurse who he knows and is will be his nurse for his entire hospital stay. At St. Elizabeth Hospital, a typical primary care nurse is responsible for six patients and is assisted by a specific associate primary care nurse and a licensed practical nurse during the evening and mid-night shifts. A day's activity can differ from nurse to nurse but the same, basic care is given. For most primary care nurses the day begins by reading the report from the night. Then patient rounds are made and vital signs are measured. If breakfast has arrived on the floor; meals are distributed. If not, the "4 m. care"—bath, personal hygiene and placement of fresh linens on the bed—is completed.

After breakfast, medications are distributed, dressing treatments are done and after the doctor has visited, tests or treatments are arranged for the day. Charting is done in the interim. Throughout the entire time of the activity, the primary care nurse is talking with her patients. Primary care nursing is not staffed team nursing where several nurses, licensed practical nurses and nurse aides care for a group of patients with one passing medications, one measuring vital signs and another attending to a patient's personal hygiene.

Under primary care nursing, anonymity does not exist either for the patient or the staff member. Right from the start a verbal contract is made between nurse and patient. "I am your nurse. I will care for you throughout your hospitalization." From the start, there is continuity and completeness, and care begins on a personal basis. "As opposed to three or four people taking care of you, I think primary care nursing gives a nurse a better idea of a practical person's habits. A change would be noticed faster and any problem would be corrected quicker. It (primary care nursing) prevents confusion," said Geer, an announcer at WGN radio station. Geer, who was admitted Jan. 30—approximately the same time of the beginning of the primary care nursing program on fifth floor—said this hospitalization was the first of any length for him. His apprehensions were quelled, he said, when his nurse was able to answer his questions.

"Mrs. (Jane) Freeman has been my nurse since I've been here. She has been kind, patient and responsive to my needs," Geer said. "I think it's (primary care nursing) is a good set-up and I've been impressed with the service," he added. Nurse Freeman, a 10-year associate of St. Elizabeth Hospital, said that in primary care nursing there is no question of whether or not a patient's need has been fulfilled. "You know because you've done it yourself."

Phillips, who was admitted Feb. 7, had been hospitalized here many years ago. He said, in contrast, he preferred the primary care nursing system by a large degree. "Pat (O'Rourke, RN) knows what's going on with me at all times and it makes me feel better when she tells me what's happening," Phillips said.

Permits for transporting cigarettes

Persons who bring more than 10 cartons of cigarettes into Illinois that have not been taxed by the state are required to obtain a cigarette transportation permit from the Illinois Department of Revenue. Revenue officers said today that applications for the permit are available from revenue district offices throughout the state. Permits also can be obtained by writing to Cigarette Tax Division, Department of Revenue, 405 Springfield, Ill. 62706.

There is no charge for the permit, which is used by the department to monitor the flow of untaxed cigarettes in Illinois. A permit is not required to transport fewer than 10 cartons of cigarettes in Illinois. But revenue officers said the state cigarette use tax must be paid if the cigarettes are used in Illinois.

The tax is imposed at a rate of 12 cents per package and must be remitted to the Department of Revenue within three days after the cigarettes are acquired for use in Illinois. The law does not allow a credit for taxes paid to another state on the cigarettes.

University will honor Solomon

Four people who have made significant contributions toward improving the quality of life will be honored at the June 8 commencement exercises of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Two men will receive honorary doctoral degrees. The honorary doctor of humane letters degree will be awarded to President Leopold Sedar Senghor of Senegal, and Peter Ferdinand Drucker is slated to receive the honorary degree of doctor of economics and business management.

Distinguished service awards will go to Russell Solomon, vice-president of quality control at the Granite City Steel Division of the National Steel Corporation, and to David Walter Shaw, executive director of the Madison County Mental Health Center, Inc. (Alton).

Authority to grant the awards was approved Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees on the recommendations of the University Committee for Honorary Degrees and Distinguished Awards and the president of the university.

President Senghor, who will receive the honorary doctor of humane letters degree, is recognized as one of the elder statesmen of Africa. When the Republic of Senegal declared its independence in 1960, Senghor was elected the first president of the new republic.

In addition to providing political leadership to his country, the president has been an eloquent spokesman for African culture and tradition. Through his art and thought he has served as a guide to Negro Africans seeking to re-discover their own roots and strengthen their sense of identity and self-respect.

According to the recommendation submitted to the board, Drucker is being recognized for his career as an educator, consultant and analyst in the area of economics and business management.

"For 30 years, Drucker has provided persuasive analysis and concrete guidelines for leaders and managers all over the world."

His books on economics, management and industrial organization, and the impact of current practices and trends on the future are considered required reading in schools of business and administration and in many organizations around the world.

Solomon is being recognized for his continued support in the development of the local campus "from the first moment that the proposal was made for the development of a higher educational resource for the metropolitan area."

According to the recommendation, Solomon "has made many brilliant contributions to the strength of the university in general, to the SIUE Foundation, and to the development of our programmatic offerings in the area of engineering and scientific technology."

Throughout this period, Solomon has been active in the promotion of better understanding between area corporations and the university.

Since the early 1970s, he has served as chairman of an advisory committee to the School of Science and Technology. He has also served on the board of directors of the Mississippi River Festival, Inc.

In recommending Shaw for the distinguished service award, the committee said he has "directly influenced the quality of life for the citizens of Madison County by delivering high quality services based on sound mental health concepts and modern treatment technology."

The committee further said that during the past decade, Shaw "has guided the transfer of psychiatric services from state institutions to out-patient centers within communities close to those in need of services."

The committee asserted that Shaw's position concerning current and developing trends in mental health technology, combined with his knowledge of Madison County environmental, demographic and political conditions and legislative leaders, enabled facilities under guidelines to predict and provide needed services in advance of critical needs.

The Nelsons are members of the Church of God in Christ of Alton, in which church Nelson serves as deacon. They reside at 1226 Calhoun St., Venice.

Earns promotion

The U.S. Air Force has promoted Clotus P. Schuessler to the rank of master sergeant. Sergeant Schuessler is serving at Plattsburgh AFB, N.Y., as an aircraft maintenance technician.

The sergeant attended Intra American University's extension at Ramey AFB and Plattsburgh State University. His brother, Eugene Schuessler, resides at 1516 F.D.B. St., Madison.

The equity in your house is like money in your pocket.

Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in mind.

Real-estate values are up, up, up.

So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

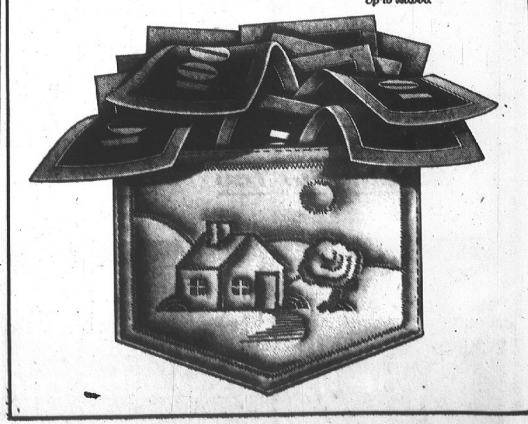

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real-estate loan. Right here. Right now.

Seek sponsors for food program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is seeking sponsors in Illinois to operate the 1978 summer food program for children, especially in rural areas. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman has said.

"We are working now to get the 1978 summer food program underway and we want to alert potential sponsors in Illinois that they should be submitting applications soon. We are especially interested in getting sponsors for rural parts of the country," she said. "Since many poor, rural areas have lacked a program in the past."

Legislation enacted last year (P.L. 95-166) directs the department to seek more rural sponsors, she said.

For more information on sponsoring the summer food program, Quad-Cityans may contact Robert Ohlzen, Summer Food Service Program, 100 North First St., Springfield, Ill. 62777. The telephone number is (217) 782-2491.

The summer food program provides free, nutritious meals to children in needy areas during the summer months (May-September) or during any school vacation of more than three weeks for schools with a continuous school year.

Children 18 and under, and handicapped individuals over 18 who participate in a public school program for the handicapped, are eligible to participate in the program.

Public, or nonprofit private, nonresidential organizations operating in areas where at least one-third of the children are eligible for free or reduced price school lunches may qualify to sponsor the program. Residential summer camps whose enrollment includes needy children are also eligible to sponsor the program.

Participating sponsors can be reimbursed up to the full operating costs of the program and for administrative costs related to planning, organizing, and supervising the food service.

Eligible sponsors include city government agencies, county and municipal school systems, recreation departments, churches, and social service organizations.

Flu causes, treatment

The flu season is peaking now and many people are suffering with the fever, chills, cough, and head and muscle aches caused by influenza viruses.

While it doesn't offer a cure for influenza, a pamphlet titled "Flu," will help victims of the disease understand what influenza is, its cause, treatments, possible complications, and prevention by use of vaccines.

The pamphlet explains that influenza is caused by a virus that is constantly changing.

While most of the changes are minor, every 10 years or so a major change takes place. When this happens, global epidemics, like those caused by the Asian flu in 1957 and the Hong Kong flu in 1968, occur.

The basic treatment for influenza is rest in bed. In addition, your doctor may prescribe:

1. Aspirin, or an aspirin substitute, to control temperature and pain.
2. Lots of fluids.
3. Cough suppressants, usually taken in the evening to produce a decent night's sleep.
4. Humidification to relieve the dry, hacking cough.

5. Antibiotics, if there is a complicating bacterial infection.

According to the pamphlet, vaccination is the best way to minimize or prevent influenza. The vaccines are made from viruses that have changed continuously to match each new strain circulating at the time.

Present vaccines should prevent influenza in the majority of cases. However, if complete protection does not occur, vaccination usually changes a severe case to one which is much milder than it would have been without the immunization.

Copies of the pamphlet are available free of charge by sending a stamped, self-addressed, No. 10 envelope to "Flu," Dept. 383R, Abbott Laboratories, Abbott Park, North Chicago, Ill. 60064.

"Under the spreading chestnut tree the village smithy stands"

—Longfellow

The village blacksmith of the early 1800's was typical of the "cottage industry" of the times. As the poet said . . .

"The smith a mighty man is he
With large and sinewy hands."
Today the "no-growth" advocates would like to return us to the days of the village blacksmith and the "cottage industry."

No-growth in electric energy wouldn't mean the end of jobs. After all, even without electric energy, the smithy did have a job.

And Longfellow noted . . .

"His brow is wet with honest sweat,
He earns what he can."
Without electric energy there would still be jobs, like the job of the village smithy. And people would "earn what he can."

Today's more productive and better paying jobs depend on growing resources of electric energy. But the no-growth people would like to impose cottage industry jobs on us. And they are serious.

Think about it. Would you trade jobs with the village smithy?

Tuxedos now come in six colors, Rotarians told

In renting a tuxedo, the most important item is the fit, according to Rotarian Wayne Scannel, who spoke at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Madison-Veneta Rotary Club at the Madison Memorial Center. Seventh and Lee streets, Madison.

Scannel, operator of Wayne's Men's Wear in Madison, spoke to the club on the business aspects of tuxedo rentals.

He noted that the tail coat is becoming more popular in formal wear, and that tuxedos are now coming in as many as six different colors and are available in sizes to 56.

Rental cost runs between $20 and $30 each.

He pointed out that the profit margin is low in tux rental, but the volume makes up for the low profits.

A tuxedo order will run from six to as many as 15 or more tuxedos.

Advertising is important, he said, noting that this needs to be done not only in the regular news media, but also the school newspapers around from time to time. Rotarian Al Hudrik reminded the members that Wednesday will be the club's chili day and all tickets should be sold, he also reminded the members that everyone who be needed at the event to work.

The Rotarians will serve chili in the Memorial Center from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and from 4:30 p.m. until 6:30 p.m.

The members were told that the Rotary District Conference will be April 21, 22 and 23 at the Collinsville Holiday Inn with the Highland club serving as hosts.

Seminar on communications

A course dealing with the communication aspects of public relations will be offered by the department of speech communications at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during the spring quarter, according to Annette Mulvaney Graebe, director of the University Information Center and instructor for the course. The Communication Aspects of Public Relations (SPC 419-4) will focus on effective communication. "As society becomes more complex, more segmented, more impersonal, the need for public relations is becoming more and more intense," Mrs. Graebe said.

The course is an introduction to public relations—one of the newest and most exciting fields of communication, Mrs. Graebe said. "It is a field that not only involves knowledge of communication tools and human relations, it also measures the very heartbeat of society," she added.

The work-study seminar will encompass a wide range of activities with opportunities for students to obtain some sensitivity for the area of public relations.

Although public relations is most widely known and practiced in business and industry, this course will not restrict its scope to these areas alone," Mrs. Graebe said.

Communications in public relations will be investigated in a number of other areas, including education, health care delivery, and other disciplines. Public relations practitioners from several areas will act as special guest lecturers.

No prerequisites are required for the course, and it is open to everyone. Class sessions will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:30 until 4:30 p.m. Registration for the course can be accomplished during regular registration hours: March 9 and 23 from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. Registration will take place in Meridian Ballroom of the University center.

The program is open to the public without charge. Showcasing on the program will be students who have participated in various park district classes in gymnastics, preschool, baton and dance during the fall and winter months.

The carnival, a traditional feature of the district each March, concludes the free classes for the season.

New sessions in gymnastics and for preschoolers will be offered again in the summer. Harold Brown, park district superintendent, advised.

during the program which was followed by refreshments served by the Home Economics Department. From left, Sandra Cann, Robin Watson, Cynthia Zelenka, Steven Gaumer, Alice Hoffman, Sandra Payne and Renee Sharp.

Two songs, "Candy Man" and "High Hopes," will be sung by the preschoolers, under the direction of Mrs. Rosemarie Lindner and Mrs. Cheryl Humphreys, to open the program.

An exhibition of advanced gymnastics will follow, with Pam Rowden demonstrating on the balance beam and giving a free exercise routine; Christy Wickham on the uneven parallel bars; Jackie Davidson on the balance beam and Lala Anselmo also providing a free exercise segment.

Tumbling will be presented by Joe DeGonia, Patty Morris, Laura Goodman, Debbie Morris, Joan Farmlay, Julie Astorian, Laura Humphreys, Pam Rowden, Kristy Whitaker, Theresa McFalls, Lala Anselmo and Rhonda Cicio.

Performing on the minitrampoline will be Christy Wickham, Mark Plantitz, Rhonda Cicio, Julie Astorian, Patty Morris, Pam Rowden, Kristy Whitaker, Kathy Nagy, Laura Goodman and Joan Farmlay.

Instructors in the gymnastic classes, coordinated by Dave Sparks, are Marsha Wickham, Christy Wickham, Donna Davis, Jackie Davidson, Diana Boyce and Franca Southwick.

Donna Davis, instructor in the dance classes, will direct the students in three numbers.

Preschool, kindergarten and first grade pupils will present "Winnie The Pooh"; second and third grade students will perform "I've Got No Strings"; and fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils will perform "Spoon Full of Sugar."

Baton twirling to "Baby Elephant Walk" and "Yankee Doodle" will be presented under the direction of Barbara Brandt, instructor.

Beginning and intermediate gymnastic students also will demonstrate their various skills.

'Ice Capades' tickets Thursday

The Granite City Park District will make its annual trip to the Checkerboard, St. Louis, to see the "Ice Capades," starting Dorothy Hamill, 1976 Olympic gold medalist and world skating star, for the 6 p.m. performance on Sunday, April 9.

Tickets will go on sale at the Wilson Park office, beginning at 9 a.m. Thursday, costing $5 for adults and $4 for children under 16 years of age. A $2.50 charge will be made for roundtrip bus fare to St. Louis.

The park district has sponsored such trips for the past several years and the seats have always been excellent. Harold Brown, district superintendent, said. He noted the seats again will be in the arena circle.

The tickets will be distributed on a first come, first serve basis. Further information may be obtained by calling the park office at 877-3059.

The Realistic® hi-fi receiver shootout. You're lucky if you've waited until now.

The benefits of owning Realistic stereo components (as against Pioneer, Marantz and other front-runners) should be obvious. But they aren't. So we explain them every so often, particularly at model-change-time, which is a happening that begins today. We agree Realistic and other famous national brands are in some ways look-alikes in power, beauty and suggested retail price. That's where the similarity ends. Realistic is available only where there's a big Radio Shack sign out front. Realistic is designed by and custom-crafted by (or for) Radio Shack. No one else. That means we sell direct. Direct in every state, in more than 9 countries (including Holland and Australia, for example). We service what we sell. And since we sell more receivers, probably, than any other chain of audio shops in the world, that means The Shack® has more buying power and dedicated salespeople than anybody. One thing we don't have many of is rugs on the floor. Millionaires may not like our low-key, low-cost environment but music lovers do. Like Peter Nero, who knows how to pinch a penny. Like Arthur Fiedler, our friend and customer since about 1948. One more thing: this sale is not on at Pacific, Atlantis, Tech, Custom or Federated. Only at Radio Shack.

Awarded degree in chiropractic

The board of trustees, faculty, and administration of Logan College of Chiropractic has announced the graduation of Gareth Smith of Granite City with the degree of doctor of chiropractic.

He has completed a four-year course of studies consisting of approximately 5,000 classroom hours including basic sciences, Logan basic chiropractic technique, diversified technique, and special chiropractic techniques.

He has successfully met all CCE requirements in the handling and care of patients including a 12 month externship in one of the Logan College Outpatient Clinics, the announcement said.

Dr. Smith will practice as a primary health care specialist.

Plans for a unique public affairs forum to be held at two St. Louis area locations in sessions separated by two weeks have been announced by the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services (CUERS) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Titled "Private-Public Redevelopment: How Decisions are Made," the seminar is scheduled May 3-4 at the Mayfair Hotel in St. Louis and May 19-20 at the Mineral Springs Mall in Alton.

According to Conference Chairman Robert Mendelson, associate professor and CUERS researcher, each session will be highlighted by discussions of a specific skills and techniques, descriptions of case examples, and applications of the techniques to the cases studied, including field trips.

Mendelson said the enrollees, who will be limited to 70, will examine such fundamental questions as:

"What constitutes a successful project? ... When is government assistance necessary to make a project work? ... How are current and future value determined? ... How much of market analysis is based on fact and how much on impression?"

"Traditionally," Mendelson explained, "public planning has been concerned with diagnosing and prescribing treatment aimed at stabilizing small urban areas such as neighborhoods and central business districts. Many plans have assigned excessive responsibility for implementation to the public sector."

"In particular," those factors which generate investment by lenders, landlords, commercial operators, homeowners and developers have been neglected and misunderstood. This lack of insight has caused inefficient transfers of resources from municipal operating and community development budgets, questionable usage of tax abatement, privileges to stimulate private efforts for small area improvement, and unsystematic allocation of housing subsidy funds and mortgage insurance."

Mendelson said elected officials, administrators and other state agencies can improve their effectiveness by comprehending the methods used in the private sector to determine investment feasibility. He said this seminar can also provide potential investors in urban properties with information from more experienced practitioners and give bankers and real estate brokers an understanding of ways to blend private-public resources.

Enrollees in the seminar will observe and work with private practitioners to understand how they make decisions and what techniques they employ. Each presentation will consist of three parts: a discussion of specific skills and techniques; a description of case examples; and an application of the techniques to the case.

Prior to the seminar, registrants will receive two types of materials — one type describing skills and techniques, and the other, information on cases. There will be one session dealing with each case. Enrollees will be transported to various sites under discussion during the workshop sessions.

Sites to be visited include the Barton French, senior vice president of the First National Bank in St. Louis; Russell B. Clifton, vice-president for mortgage programs, Federal National Mortgage Association; Gerald Rimmel, receiver, Mansion House; Curtis Weichert, comptroller, Pantheon Corp.; Esley Hamilton, architectural historian and urban planner; Richard Ward, principal, Team Four, Inc.; and Roger Schubert, developer, Mineral Springs Project.

Cost of the seminar, including meals, materials, field trips and transportation, is $90. Additional information and registration materials are available by contacting Mendelson or Eleanor Ellis, CUERS conference coordinator, Box 32, SIUE.

Man beaten in Madison

George Szercinski, 26, of 1816 Market St., Madison, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:10 a.m. Friday suffering a fractured nose and abrasions to the upper lip.

Szercinski allegedly was beaten outside the Starlight Tavern at 1225 Madison Ave. Three men allegedly attacked Szercinski after he left the tavern.

Authorities believe the attack resulted from an argument about a pool game.

Police reported dispersing a crowd of 12 to 15 people. Authorities saw the disturbance while on patrol.

Question boys in theft at school

Three boys were questioned at Frohardt School at 2:45 p.m. Thursday in connection with a silver and black box containing what appeared to be partially burned marijuana cigarettes.

One boy, 12, who admitted ownership of the box, said it did not contain the cigarettes when he left it inside an unlocked locker at the school.

An 11-year-old boy admitted taking the box from the locker and said the cigarettes were inside. He and another 12-year-old boy had the box in their possession when police were summoned to the school.

All three students were allowed to go home and are to be contacted by the juvenile officer.

State employment in slight decline

Normal seasonal fluctuations in part-time employment by various state agencies accounted for a slight decrease in the state payroll during the month of January, according to Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis.

There were 116,253 employees of all state agencies in January, a decrease of 258, or 0.2 percent, as compared to December.

Exclusive of educational institutions, the January total was 76,044. This is an increase of 363, or 0.5 percent, from the December figure.

Changes by major groups were:

Pontoon-Nameoki turn light ok'd

Plans and specifications for revision of the electric traffic signal at Pontoon and Nameoki roads have been approved by the Illinois Department of Transportation, clearing the way for installation, city officials were informed last week. The modification will provide installation of a left turn signal in the traffic system at that intersection. The project has been in the planning stage for the past several years.

Constitutional Officers and Courts down 4, or 0.4 percent. CDE departments up 260, or 4 percent.

Major commissions up 63, or 1.4 percent. Miscellaneous agencies up 44, or 2.3 percent.

Payrolls for all agencies totaled $121,283,138, and increase of $411,116, or 0.3 percent, from December. Payrolls for all agencies, except educational institutions, were $83,183,114, a decrease of $168,071, or 0.2 percent.

The number of employees in January, 1978, was 1,689 less than in January, 1977. Educational institutions decreased by 910. All other agencies decreased by 779.

Total payroll costs for all state agencies increased by $4,859,915, or up 4.2 percent, from January, 1977, to January, 1978.

Gov. Thompson not only hoping for victory but a nationally impressive vote margin

Post-Dispatch — In these days when public officials and government itself are only slightly less suspect than the proverbial skunk at a garden party, "Big Jim" Thompson of Illinois is betting that he has the formula for winning elections — maybe even the White House — and influencing voters.

What he is betting on at the moment is his chance for re-election next fall as governor of Illinois.

But his stack of chips also may be riding on a much bigger political prize — the presidency in 1980.

Ever since 1976 when he scored a record landslide to become governor of the biggest state now in Republican hands, James R. Thompson has been regarded as one of the GOP's hottest prospects for the next presidential race.

Whether he can hold onto that rating is likely to depend in good measure on how he performs as governor this year.

Perhaps even more critical will be how much vote-getting strength he shows in November's election when he is certain to face a tougher race than he did his first time out.

Thompson's strategy for meeting these tests is somewhat surprising. It is in keeping with the pattern followed by other newer politicians who do the conventional so frequently that they are making it conventional.

The traditional formula would have called for a busy, impressive program of government initiatives.

It would deliver goodies to the voters at a decent but brief interval before election day and, of course, demonstrate the competence and ability of the great man.

That not-so-subtle approach always has been regarded as particularly necessary for officials like Thompson, whose critics say his first year in office was long on style but short on substance.

The governor, however, marches to a different drummer — or, rather, to the same one he marched to last year.

Once again he will propose only a limited program of state action.

He will keep his head down, drawing the state's purse strings tight and avoiding any undertakings that are large-scale and ambitious (or controversial, say his critics).

What then will he emphasize this year, he was asked during an interview that started in Chicago and ended in Springfield.

"Jobs, fiscal responsibility, a tough image on crime and no scandals," he replied succinctly.

Much of that lineup is like a summer rerun on TV — you've seen it before.

Fiscal responsibility was the name of his game last year. His top priority then — successfully carried out with the aid of an expanding economy — was to balance the budget without higher taxes.

Those are again the aims this year, with little increase expected in the present budget total of $11 billion.

The tough-on-crime goal for this year appears to be largely one of image, since he got a hard-line crime bill through the legislature in 1977.

As governor, he knows he can't expect to have the same image he enjoyed when he came to national attention as a corruption-busting prosecutor in Chicago. But, he told me, "I don't want to stray too much from it, either."

That desire apparently underlies one exception to the penny-pinching attitude on state spending which Thompson proudly boasts of.

Even with last year's tightened belt, he found money to build additional prisons.

"I'll build more if I have to," he told a small group of Chicago businessmen organizing a fundraising dinner for him. "There are some people who don't belong on the street with you and me."

The only new element of any substance in the issues Thompson intends to emphasize this year is a program for jobs and economic improvement.

Details were outlined in his budget message.

The emphasis is not on public spending, but on the private sector through tax incentives and other inducements to business firms.

The political situation in which the Illinoisian now finds himself is somewhat similar to that of two other men far better known on the national scene.

Like Thompson, both President Jimmy Carter and Gov. Edmund G. "Jerry" Brown Jr. of California find themselves facing a year which may affect significantly their political future.

Although Brown was an earlier advocate of the "less is better" political philosophy which Thompson is again preaching this year, the California Democrat is opening his previously tight fist in politics-as-usual style.

With an accumulated state surplus of nearly $3 billion, he now plans to spend substantial amounts before election to reduce property taxes, build and improve mental hospitals and to deliver other goodies.

Nowhere is the broad similarity in philosophy advocated by Brown and Thompson more pronounced than in their enthusiasm for cracking down on crime.

Brown used almost the same language as Thompson in discussing the subject. "You want more prisons?" he said. "I'll build more prisons."

The similarity in the situation which faces Carter and Thompson rests on the fact that by usual standards of measurement, neither accomplished a great deal in his first year in office.

Carter and his aides concede that he has to produce this year.

If he doesn't, he may not be able to offset the public perception that he isn't up to the job of being president.

Conversations with White House aides suggest they favor what, in effect, would be a blend of the strategies being used by Brown and Thompson.

While Carter has to show he can produce on at least three big issues — the Panama Canal treaties and the energy and economic packages — plans have been made to limit his personal involvement with other troublesome legislative matters.

At the same time, some advisers want him to emphasize the personal, sometimes symbolic, measures that worked so well for him in 1977.

They want to see more town meetings and more fireside chats like his TV address dealing with the Panama Canal treaties.

Thompson believes he does not face the same imperative. Carter does to produce an impressive record this year of busy, major accomplishments.

He believes there is less tendency at the state level than at the federal for voters to want less government action while at the same time demanding new government initiatives like national health insurance or improved Social Security benefits.

"Besides," he added, "people don't think a governor can do very much. They don't regard him the same way they do a president."

In the real world of politics, Thompson's prospects for being a serious presidential possibility in 1980 probably will rest less on what he does in Springfield this year than on what he does at the polls in November.

More national attention is likely to be focused on his race than on any other gubernatorial contest this year.

If he wins impressively, he almost automatically will be an important figure in the Republican presidential picture.

Chances are that if Thompson wins, his margin will be far less than the record of nearly 1.4 million votes by which he beat Michael J. Howlett, the candidate of the Daley machine in 1976.

Michael J. Bakalis, the state comptroller, the likely Democratic nominee, has twice beaten heavily-favored Republican incumbents. Some political observers believe he could give Thompson trouble.

Thompson, who has never made any secret of his desire to be president some day, is carefully keeping his path open so he can move in 1980 if that seems advisable.

Although he came to the governorship rather vaguely and generally classed as a "moderate," he has vigorously avoided all efforts to identify him with that minority wing of the GOP.

He has gone out of his way to create the impression that conservatives find him interesting.

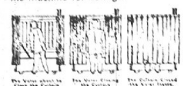

In addition, his emphasis on a tight budget and a hardline position on crime may make it more difficult for conservatives, some of whom are convinced he's a dangerous liberal, to get a handle on him.

He gave them an opening, however, with his vetoes of legislation that would have legalized the use of Laetrile to treat cancer and would have prohibited the use of state funds

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING ON THE VOTING MACHINE

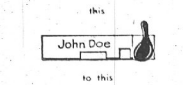

PULL the red handle of the curtain lever (lower left side of the machine). From the left to right as far as it will go and leave it there. This will close the curtain around you and unlock the machine for voting.

INSTRUCTIONS AFTER CLOSING THE CURTAIN

NOTE: At Primary Elections you are confined to make selections in only one party. The party of your choice in which you declared yourself to be a member.

On the ballot shown at the right you will find the title of office and the names of the candidates. Turn down the pointer at the right of the candidates you wish to vote for until an ☐ mark appears adjacent to each candidate's name and leave the ☐ mark showing.

Leaving the pointer or pointers down in their voting position, pull the red handle of the curtain lever to the left as far as it will go and leave it there (this will register your vote and return the pointer to their first position, after which the curtain will open).

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION, MACHINE VOTING

No votes are registered until you pull the curtain lever to the left to open the curtain. You can therefore MAKE AS MANY CHANGES IN YOUR BALLOT AS YOU WISH WHILE THE CURTAIN LEVER IS AT ITS EXTREME RIGHT (CURTAIN CLOSED).

The machine is so arranged that you cannot turn down more than the proper number of pointers for an office. For example, if only one candidate is to be elected to any office you can turn down only one pointer for that office. If more than one candidate is to be elected to an office, you can turn down as many pointers up to the number of candidates to be elected to that office.

There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the curtain lever to the left records your vote and returns the voted pointer up to its unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

I, EVELYN M. BOWLES, COUNTY CLERK OF MADISON COUNTY, ILLINOIS, DO HEREBY CERTIFY THE FOREGOING ARE THE OFFICIAL DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN BALLOTS TO BE VOTED AT THE PRIMARY ELECTION TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1978.

SPECIMEN BALLOT
PRIMARY ELECTION
MARCH 21, 1978
MADISON COUNTY, ILLINOIS

Coalition, organization and independents competing for votes in the primary election

Alton Telegraph — A scorecard and program would be helpful in the March 21 primary election in Madison County.

In past primaries, you could count on a handful of mavericks challenging the endorsed candidates of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee, the "organization" controlled at one time by Madison-Venice party bosses. You could also count on the mavericks losing, until two years ago when a political novice named Jim McPike played grassroots politics for all it was worth and dumped Sam Wolf, the "organization" candidate.

So this year, the independents have an entire slate of candidates challenging the "organization," except that the "independents" are an "organization" of their own with a name — the "coalition." With two "organizations" battling it out for the primary, there had to be some candidates who didn't believe in either group, so we have a third organization of "independents" running for some county offices. Sound confusing? You bet it is. Even worse, the confusion and sudden proliferation of competing organizations means voters are not faced with the question of individual candidates, but the question of which political machine they are going to let tell them whom or whom not to vote for.

The coalition is the newest political organization in county politics. The ticket is headed by sheriff's candidate Emil Toffant, a former State Police captain with a Mr. Clean image. To understand how the coalition and other independents became a political power to be reckoned with, go back about four years when the Democratic Central Committee selected Sam Wolf, a Granite City real estate man, to fill the seat vacated by State Rep. Horace Calvo after he stepped down to become a judge.

This angered many of the party regulars in Alton, who felt attorney Dan O'Neill would be named because he finished third in the 1974 primary election for the state representative nomination (the first two finishers are nominees).

The dissidents were part of a political action group called Voice, whose members included former Democratic precinct committeewoman Jane O'Neill and chemical salesman Jim McPike.

A year later, Mrs. O'Neill, (Dan O'Neill's cousin by marriage), ran for alderman in the first ward and beat both the odds and incumbent Karl Deterding by turning out many first time voters.

The next year, she went to work as treasurer for McPike as he sought to upset Wolf in the primary race for representative in the 36th District. Using the same techniques which put Mrs. O'Neill in office, McPike's campaign organization pounded doors and turned out a record vote in Alton and Godfrey to win the primary and coast to a easy victory in the general election.

With both Mrs. O'Neill and McPike in office, a new political power base evolved in Alton. Their next move was straight out of the practical politics handbook — get more candidates into office.

They worked actively for Edward Schenk, chairman of Madison County EOC, who tried to unseat incumbent mayor Paul Lenz in Alton.

Schenk lost 3-1, even though

Lenz was in the election as a write-in, and the budding organization was handed its first defeat.

Several persons knowledgeable in politics advised McPike to stay out of the mayor's race, but he ignored them. After the election, those same experts said the defeat of Schenk would be the freshman representative's chance of reelection.

As this year's county elections neared, the County Democratic Central Committee slated Wolf to run against McPike.

McPike, seeing the handwriting on the wall, refused to seek slating by the committee, and pulled a Martin Luther-style publicity stunt by posting a list of demands and protests on the door of the slating room.

The central committee, however, was in trouble, because it did not have a strong candidate for sheriff. Incumbent John Maeras, his office racked by an FBI investigation, decided to not seek reelection.

With the obvious problems of the central committee, and the past successes of a candidate like McPike, the coalition was born.

Toffant was already in the campaign for sheriff and announced in the beginning he would not seek slating.

His campaign was being handled by Granite City Attorney Dick Allen, Edwardsville Attorney Dick Mudge and Alton political camp follower Myles McCall and they soon started looking for other independent candidates to place in other offices.

McPike was invited to join the coalition, but declined, saying his race would be too close to become involved with any political faction.

"I had opposed slating with the central committee," McPike says. "Why should I get involved with another group which looked like they were slating in the same way?"

Mudge says the coalition doesn't consider its organization a slate. "We are opposed to slating. We make no promises to anyone. We are a cooperative of independent candidates," he says.

Toffant leads the coalition ticket, but Toffant also says privately he doesn't like the idea of being part of an organized slate, either.

His presence gives the coalition a better than even chance to getting much of its slate into office. The weakest coalition candidate is considered to be Dan O'Neill, seeking his revenge against the Democratic Central Committee by trying to unseat slating candidate and incumbent State Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene.

Ironically, political insiders say O'Neill got into the race to help turn out a large Alton-Godfrey vote to help non-coalition candidate McPike stay in office.

McPike freely admits he is fighting for his political life. The possible backlash from his involvement in the Alton mayor's race and the determination of the Democratic Central Committee to unseat could beat him March 21.

So he plans to stay free from any of the factions, saying the primary is, and should be, an election where every candidate is out for himself.

As an independent, McPike is trying to also steer clear of other independents, because even that group is starting to look like a slate, with Sheriff's candidate Ed Voumard heading the ticket.

Voumard, a former Alton policeman and Alton Township Democratic chairman, sought slating from the Democratic Central Committee and lost. He has, however, received endorsements from several township committees and is considered a strong contender to Toffant.

Whatever happens in this year's elections, the group which gets the most candidates into office will be the organization with the power in Madison County for the next few years.

When the next election rolls around, they will be the ones with the power to decide which candidates can or cannot run for office with "official" blessing.

Such is the law of practical politics. An organization is only a machine when it belongs to the other side.

Gov. Thompson

to pay for abortions of women as it unfolds.

When he learned that a visitor had recently talked with Jerry Brown, he was full of questions about the California governor.

Thompson has some potent political assets that haven't been generally recognized. If his formula for this year works successfully, he may be able to use them in a bid for the White House, not just the State House.

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING ON THE VOTING MACHINE

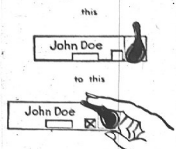

PULL the red handle of the curtain lever (lower left side of the machine) from the left to right as far as it will go and leave it there (this will close the curtain around you and unlock the machine for voting).

INSTRUCTIONS AFTER CLOSING THE CURTAIN

NOTE: At Primary Elections you are confined to make selections in only one party. The party of your choice in which you declared yourself to be a member.

On the ballot shown at the right you will find the title of office and the names of the candidates. Pull the pointer at the right of the candidates you wish to vote for until an X mark appears adjacent to each candidate's name and leave the X mark showing.

Leaving the pointer or pointers down in their voting position, pull the red handle of the curtain lever to the left as far as it will go and leave it there (this will register your vote and return the pointers to their first position, after which the curtain will open).

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION, MACHINE VOTING:

No votes are registered until you pull the curtain lever to the left to open the curtain. You can therefore MAKE AS MANY CHANGES IN YOUR BALLOT AS YOU WISH WHILE THE CURTAIN LEVER IS AT ITS EXTREME RIGHT (CURTAIN CLOSED).

The machine is so arranged that you cannot turn down more than the proper number of pointers for an office. For example, if only one candidate is to be elected to any office you can turn down only one pointer for that office. If more than one candidate is to be elected to an office, you can turn down as many pointers up to the number of candidates to be elected to that office.

There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the curtain lever to the left records your vote and returns the voted pointer up to its unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

Concern that state primary not generating much interest among voters

By AL MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

The politicians in the state unanimously agree the voter turnout for the primary election will be low.

There is simply little interest in governmental or political matters now.

One reason, of course, is the weather. Much of the state has experienced record or near-record snow falls.

That, combined with the below-average temperatures, has dominated the news and nearly everyone's thinking.

It's tough for any candidate to attract attention when competing against these weather conditions and the adverse effects of the coal strike.

Even in normal weather, though, this election would rate low on the interest scale.

Voters are in the unique position of evaluating an incumbent governor only a year after he took office.

Gov. James Thompson is serving a two-year term instead of the normal four-year term, because of a new state constitution which requires state officials to be elected at a time other than when the president is elected.

Thompson has no opposition in the Republican primary, so most of the public hasn't yet tuned in to the campaign.

It's a far different situation from two years ago when a vicious gubernatorial primary produced an exceptionally large turnout.

At that time, as you recall, Gov. Dan Walker was fighting a challenge in the primary from the regulars in the Democratic organization.

Then-Chicago Mayor Richard Daley supported Michael Howlett against the incumbent governor.

Walker lined up scores of candidates across the state to run with him in order to generate more interest in the election, and he slammed his opposition at every conceivable opportunity.

The future of the so-called Independent movement was at stake.

Walker's strategy was successful in turning out huge numbers of voters, but he lost the nomination anyway.

The Republicans weren't sitting still during this Democratic battle. They produced a good turnout also because Ronald Reagan was challenging President Ford for the GOP presidential nomination.

Political emotions at the state level peaked with that year's election. Within a month's period, Mayor Daley died and Governor Walker left office.

A new administration began in Washington, too. So the voters, turned off by Watergate and the turmoil of the 1960s, found interests other than politics.

The key primary battles at the state level this year center on the financial offices, so it's understandable why voters are not particularly interested.

Debating the state's investment policy for the treasurer's office, as Republicans Brad Glass and Jim Skelton are doing, may be important. But it hardly affects the individual citizen on a day-to-day basis.

Republican Bob Blair is chasing around the state criticizing the governor in the hope that will help him defeat John Castle for the GOP nomination for comptroller.

On the Democratic side, slatemaking is again an issue with Nina Shepherd blasting party regulars for endorsing a ticket top-heavy with candidates from Chicago. She's running against Jerome Cosentino for treasurer.

Richard Luft is blasting away at Roland Burris, the endorsed candidate for comptroller.

The interest is so light that party regulars fear Anthony Robert Martin-Trigona may spend so much campaign money that he could somehow upset Alex Seith for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

The only political item of any real interest at the state level is the proposed pay raise for state officials. But that issue won't be on the ballot.

Some contents at the local level are generating interest, so that might prevent a record low turnout.

In the 22nd Congressional District, for example, seven candidates are seeking the office being vacated by the retiring George Shipley. The entire East-Central district should have a reasonably good turnout in both parties.

Republicans in the Rockford area have a lively primary because U.S. Rep. John Anderson is being challenged by a conservative Republican.

In the 44th legislative district — Lincoln and Bloomington — Republicans should vote in decent numbers because they have 11 candidates running for the Illinois House.

At least three incumbent state senators face stiff challenges from members of their own party: James Donnewald, D-Bureau; Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville; and John Graham, R-Barrington.

Citizens will be more likely to vote in those districts.

Cook County Republicans have a battle for the sheriff's nomination.

In Springfield, a referendum on whether to retain the commission form of city government has generated some interest.

If the politicians genuinely wanted more citizens to participate in the election process, though, they would start by moving the primary election day back to June or even September as other states have done.

Alan Dixon experienced in judicial, legislative, executive branches of government

A call for fiscal responsibility by governmental agencies was issued here by the top Illinois Democratic official during the present campaign.

Like any successful business, Illinois' state government must hold down expenses to the level of income, Alan J. Dixon, secretary of state, said at a meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club at the YMCA.

His topic was "State Business Is Your Business." The Belleville Democrat is a candidate for re-election.

"Government is the nation's largest business," Dixon told the club. "It has been growing constantly during my own 29 years in public service."

"State and local government taxes have been going up faster than federal taxes, even including Social Security taxes, which more than doubled in the last 10 years."

"According to the Census Bureau, governments at all levels collected $358 billion in taxes in the 1975-76 fiscal year. That was a $27 billion rise from the previous year."

"Federal government still collected the most — about 36 percent. About 25 percent was collected by state governments and 19 percent by local governments."

"Here in Illinois, during fiscal 1975-76, state and local governments collected an average of $700 taxes for every man, woman and child in the state."

"Our state government expenditures have been growing because the cost of services the state provides has been growing."

"During fiscal 1976-77, for instance, we spent $334 million for hospital in-patient services under the Medicaid program — a 24.7 percent increase from the year before."

"As your secretary of state, I wish every operation of our office, to improve service while keeping costs as low as possible."

"This year, we will begin issuing five-year license plates that will save the taxpayers $21 million."

"We now have instant issuance of photo driver licenses and state identification cards that will deter fraud in cashing checks."

"We have a new merit code in our office that will cover 2,300 more employees than had been covered under the state Personnel Department code."

"We run a 'tight ship' in our office, just as we did when I was state treasurer."

"During those six years, we earned more than a half-billion dollars in interest on investments of state funds."

"State government is your business. The people pay for it, and the people own it."

"With sound administration — and with understanding and cooperation of government, business and the public — we can keep it solvent and operate it effectively for the common good," Dixon asserted.

Dixon, 50, is an attorney, businessman and banker who has served in all three branches of government — executive, legislative and judicial.

In 1960, at the age of 23, he was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives after having been elected as police magistrate in 1948 at the age of 21.

Winning every elective office that he has sought, Dixon remained a state representative until being elected to the Illinois Senate in 1962.

He was re-elected as a senator in 1966 and then won the office of state treasurer in 1970. After winning a second term as treasurer in 1974, he was elected in 1976 as secretary of state, capturing a two-year term necessitated by the Illinois Constitution's transition away from presidential-year state office balloting. A four-year term is to be decided this year.

The office of secretary of state in Illinois involves a much broader range of responsibilities than is the case in most states.

Dixon announced his candidacy for re-election as Illinois secretary of state on Sept. 6.

"I want to remain secretary of state to fully implement the exciting programs we have launched," Dixon said.

"I firmly believe that secretary of state is the office in which I can best serve the people of Illinois at this time."

He was elected secretary of state by 1,344,283 votes, the largest plurality of any Democratic candidate in Illinois history.

In 1974, Dixon was re-elected as state treasurer by 843,216 votes.

In both the 1974 and 1976 elections, Dixon carried 89 counties, a record never surpassed by a state Democrat.

In announcing his candidacy, Dixon said:

"In the last campaign I pledged to implement the driver's photo program, whereby drivers would have their photographs on a laminated driver's license. That program was launched June 17."

"I pledged to initiate the photo identification program, so non-drivers as well could utilize the secretary of state facilities and have a laminated photo identification."

"This service is provided free to those over 65 years of age and went into effect July 1, 1977."

"For the first time Illinois can have staggered registration of automobiles, so motorists won't have to attach their license plates during the three coldest months of the year."

"I said that if elected I would install a Civil Service System for employees in the secretary of state's office. This measure was signed into law May 24."

"I am running for re-election because I should not and will not turn my back on some of the most progressive and fiscally conservative programs ever initiated in the office of the secretary of state."

During his first term as state treasurer, Dixon earned more than $300 million in interest for the state, 91 percent more than any of his predecessors.

At the end of 1976, the Dixon administration investments had earned $25.7 million — more money than the lottery, the horse racing tax, the corporate tax, the insurance tax or the liquor tax had produced for the state.

Dixon is a graduate of the University of Illinois and Washington University School of Law in St. Louis.

When Dixon was elected to the State House of Representatives, he was the youngest member of the Illinois legislature.

He won the Independent Voters of Illinois "outstanding legislator award" on three occasions.

He has 30 years of public service and has won every elective office that he has sought.

Dixon was re-elected to the House five consecutive terms (1952-1960) and served on every major committee. He was chairman of the House Judiciary Committee in 1959 and 1961.

It was during this period that he became familiar with state fiscal and revenue programs.

In 1962 he was elected to his first term in the Illinois Senate, and was re-elected in 1966.

After only two years in the upper house, he was named Senate minority whip. A newspaper referred to him as "one of the outstanding orators of the Democratic party."

His name became identified with major legislation — such as a revised state criminal code, minimum wage bills, judicial and election reform, and consumer fraud.

Dixon won praise from such diverse groups as the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois, Illinois Farm Bureau, Illinois AFL-CIO and Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

His attendance record in both the House and Senate was one of the best in the legislature.

From 1960 to 1970, he voted on every major bill affecting the office of state treasurer.

As chairman of the Judicial Advisory Council beginning in 1961, he achieved comprehensive knowledge of criminal jurisprudence and the Illinois judicial system.

Dixon also was a member of the Constitutional Study Commission, which recommended the calling of the constitutional convention that led to public approval of the 1970 State Constitution.

He was the senior partner in the law firm of Dixon and McDonnell of Belleville before becoming state treasurer.

He formerly was a partner of (former lieutenant governor) Cong. Paul Simon in a chain of independent weekly newspapers throughout the state.

Dixon has been a member of the Illinois State Bar Association, St. Clair County Bar Association and American Trial Lawyers Association.

He is past president of the Young Democrats of Illinois, a recipient of the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, past adjutant of the Belleville American Legion post and a member of the Armvets and the Navy Club.

Dixon was born and raised in Belleville. He and his wife, the former Joan Fox, have three children, Stephanie, 22, Jeffrey, 21, and Elizabeth, 17.

INSTRUCTIONS AFTER CLOSING THE CURTAIN

NOTE: At Primary Elections you are confined to make selections in only one party. The party of your choice in which you declared yourself to be a member.

On the ballot shown at the right you will find the title of office and the names of the candidates. Turn down the pointer at the right of the candidates you wish to vote for until an ☐ mark appears adjacent to each candidate's name and leave the ☐ mark showing.

Leaving the pointer or pointers down in their voting position, pull the red handle of the curtain lever to the left as far as it will go and leave it there (this will register your vote and return the pointers to their first position, after which the curtain will open).

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION, MACHINE VOTING

No votes are registered until you pull the curtain lever to the left to open the curtain. You can therefore MAKE AS MANY CHANGES IN YOUR BALLOT AS YOU WISH WHILE THE CURTAIN LEVER IS AT ITS EXTREME RIGHT (CURTAIN CLOSED).

The machine is so arranged that you cannot turn down more than the proper number of pointers for an office. For example, if only one candidate is to be elected to any office you can turn down only one pointer for that office. If more than one candidate is to be elected to an office, you can turn down as many pointers up to the number of candidates to be elected to that office.

There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the curtain lever to the left records your vote and returns the voted pointer up to its unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

SPECIMEN BALLOT
PRIMARY ELECTION
MARCH 21, 1978
MADISON COUNTY, ILLINOIS

4 candidates voice views on how to improve state comptroller office

The state comptroller position is being vacated by Dr. Michael Bakalis, who is leaving for the office of governor, but there is no lack of candidates for the post he is leaving.

The Democratic ballot March 21 lists Richard N. Luft and Roland W. Burris for comptroller. Seeking the nomination in the Republican primary are John W. Castle and W. Robert Blair.

State Representative Luft of Pekin decided to run after exploratory discussions with "leaders of the Democratic party, my friends, supporters and, of course, my family. In the past few months, I have found enough interest in my candidacy to support my entrance into the race."

The legislator "believes my extensive background in state government, particularly in the appropriation and budgetary functions, will enable me to effectively and efficiently serve as chief fiscal officer of the state of Illinois."

"We will conduct a campaign that is positive and based on the issues relevant to the election of the chief fiscal officer of this state."

"During my tenure as a member of the General Assembly, I concentrated my efforts on acquiring a fiscal expertise in matters that involved state finances."

"I have served on the appropriation committee for two terms and have chaired subcommittees dealing with appropriations and budgetary changes. I feel this experience will enable me to intelligently present my candidacy."

Luft, 39, has served four years in the House and was Tazewell County auditor for eight years. The position of comptroller was created in 1972. Luft accuses Chicago Democrats of "throwing away" the office by slating Roland Burris, who he accuses of "incompetence" during four years as director of Illinois General Services under former Governor Walker.

Luft displays Ernst and Ernst accounting firm statements alleging a lack of adequate financial accounting during Burris' term.

The legislator says "none of the candidates, including myself, can claim to be a total expert on the comptroller job, but I have enough accounting knowledge to learn the job and bring about improvements."

He notes he is from central Illinois, "where a state official hasn't been elected for 50 years."

Burris has charged that Luft's candidacy is racially motivated.

He says he would set up a system under which state officials would be notified if reporters examine their spending records. Currently, newsmen merely sign in before looking over state pay records and vouchers.

Luft disagrees with stricter control of record inspection. Burris ran unsuccessfully for state comptroller against Bakalis in the 1976 primary.

As director of the Department of General Services, Burris managed the state government's 80,000 telephones, 9,000 autos and trucks, most state buildings, 30 auto repair garages and 56 state stations, and supervised state personal property valued at over $2 billion.

By instituting a centralized mail and messenger service, he says he saved the state $738,000 in the first year alone. As state procurement agent, he bought more than $100 million worth of supplies and commodities each year.

Blair, 47, became active in the Republican Party as a precinct committeeman in Will County in 1959, and was first elected to the Illinois House of Representatives in 1964.

He served five successive terms in the House, two of those as speaker (1971-1974). In 1972, Blair was elected to the executive committee of the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders.

He was elected to the executive committee of the National Conference of State Legislatures in 1974.

He has received awards and honors from the Illinois Association of County Superintendents of Schools, the Association of Illinois Student Government, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the National Prisoners of War-Military Action group.

In 1975, Blair was appointed a member of the National Advisory Research Resources Council of the National Institute of Health by the secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He was engaged in private law practice from 1965 until 1975, when he became associated with Jerome H. Torsben, Ltd., a Chicago law firm.

He holds A.B. and LL.B. degrees from West Virginia University and is a member of the Illinois State and American Bar Associations. He served in the Air Force as a judge advocate from 1964 until 1966.

Blair is chairman of the board of Fairfax Realty and Development Corporations in Park Forest (Will County), where he lives with his wife, Patricia, and their three children, Steven, Mark and Susan.

He has been a frequent critic of Governor James Thompson. Castle, the other Republican candidate for comptroller, says, "The intent of the constitutional provision creating this office has been subverted in vital areas by mountains of paperwork and massive but routine clerical operations."

"The present comptroller has even confessed his inability to handle payrolls efficiently. In a recent letter, he said: 'Our payroll system, because of its size and complexity, cannot serve completely the needs of every state agency to the level of refinement that could be achieved by allowing them to process their own payroll warrants.'"

"In other words, he says that the bigger we get, the looser we operate."

"The comptroller is wrong on two counts:

"First, if he cannot achieve the expected economy and efficiency of large-scale operations, I can."

"Second, payrolls for a majority of state employees are, in fact, prepared by major departments and the higher education system. Their computers then order the comptroller's 'slave' computers to print the checks (warrants in state government)."

"Those 'slave' computers can add, compare totals, and check appropriation accounts. But they are no more able to detect ghost payrolls or phony bills than an automobile can detect a drunk driver at the wheel. That must change."

Castle is on leave as director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs. He adds, "Until and unless a comptroller is elected who understands the computer age, state employees and vendors will suffer from the confusion, the delays and the bureaucratic muddles of the present system."

"State pensioners, employees and vendors have a right to prompt payment under a system that offers a level of 'refinement' equal to or better than any subordinate system in the state."

Castle notes he is a major owner of a TV listing service which furnishes listings to U.S. and Canadian newspapers and, in some cases, "sets type" through high-speed data lines to composing rooms hundreds or thousands of miles from DeKalb, site of the business.

COLUMN 7 OFFICIAL BALLOT

Madison County, Ill., Mar. 21, 1978

Bakalis faces Williams, then hopes to upset a GOP incumbent as he did in 1970 and 1976

The Democratic primary ballot for Illinois governor on Tuesday, March 21, lists Dakin Williams first and Michael J. Bakalis second. But all forecasters say the voting result will be the opposite.

State Comptroller Bakalis won that office and, previously, the post of state superintendent of public instruction in uphill campaigns against incumbent Republican officials.

If he is nominated March 21, as seems certain, the yet-undefeated Bakalis will face a third tough GOP incumbent, Governor James R. Thompson. Brother of author Tennessee Williams, Collinsville lawyer W. Dakin Williams has run often and occasionally has garnered substantial statewide voting totals. But he continues to have the image of being an outsider, a name on the ballot rather than a major candidate.

Williams says that Bakalis if nominated would have the chance of defeating Thompson in November, likening it to "David challenging Goliath without a slingshot."

He calls the prospect much like the disastrous voyage of the Titanic. But Williams could win, he says he is convinced.

"Bossism" is blamed by Williams for Democrats' Illinois election problems. Chicago Democrats showed a "calculated disregard and indifference to the legitimate interests of Downstate Illinois" in dominating the 1976 primary slatemaking, the Collinsville resident contends.

"Things haven't changed a bit from the old days" of Daley leadership.

"Nepotism reared its ugly head again" in the slating for attorney general of Richard Troy, son-in-law of Ward Committee man Mathew Bieszczak, Williams says.

Williams opposed Adlai Stevenson the last time the latter ran for the U.S. Senate, and also sought a Senate nomination in 1974.

Married and the father of two children, he holds juris doctor and bachelor of arts degrees from Washington University.

Serving in the Far East in World War II and the Korean war, Williams retired from the Air Force with the rank of major.

First assistant U. S. district attorney at East St. Louis from 1960 to 1965, he has had a private law practice since then. He has taught constitutional law, trusts, partnerships, common law and legal research at St. Louis University.

Bakalis takes victory March 21 as a certainty and is looking ahead to November.

He has just named William D. San Hamel of Chicago as his campaign manager, and his campaign treasury has been aided by a sellout crowd of 2,000 at a $125-a-plate dinner.

"I see nothing but progress from this point on," Bakalis says. "My campaign is moving ahead as planned."

"I'm looking forward to debating the issues everywhere and often in the months ahead with the governor."

Bakalis said here Feb. 21 that party unity, jobs and the Thompson record are the themes of his campaign.

"Jobs need to be the major theme of the Democratic party in this campaign."

"We need to operate as a team. It won't be an easy election, but it can be won if this party doesn't defeat itself."

"I think our party should stand for something. The Republicans in 1976 stood for nothing and they stand for nothing now."

"Governor Thompson does nothing and does not get anyone mad. This may be good politics but it is bad government," he added.

"Jobs are our main theme. There is seven percent unemployment in Illinois and since 1970, over 200,000 jobs have been lost in this state."

"We need to bring jobs to Illinois and we need to keep jobs here."

"Funding for education also is needed badly, and we need property tax relief."

"We don't need new laws to stop fraud and waste in our state government. We need a governor that can stop it. There is over $3 million a year fraud in the operation of Medicaid," he asserted.

"I don't want new taxes; we don't need to raise taxes. There is over $1 billion in uncollected revenue in this state and $800 million a year goes uncollected from deserting fathers. This is the poorest collection rate in the entire country."

"Thompson claims the state needs money. Yet, he is asking for a $25,000 a year raise which would bring his salary up to $75,000 a year. I oppose this strongly. Most people don't even earn $25,000 a year."

"Thompson put $4,000 worth of new drapes in his office, $10,000 in new carpeting and $91,000 in new woodwork, and then says this state is broke."

"This kind of arrogance is beginning to seep down to the public and they won't stand for it," he said.

"We need to talk to the people about the facts on Thompson and what he has done for the people; and what he has done is absolutely nothing."

"We see Thompson wearing a lot of different costumes, but we have never seen him wearing the costume of governor."

"I need your help. I am not going to have over $3 million to spend on a campaign. What I need is you. I promise you that I will wage the hardest and toughest campaign for governor ever waged in this state."

Comptroller Bakalis came through for the Democrats and announced his candidacy for governor Oct. 13.

The party had been hard pressed to find a top candidate willing to run against Gov. Thompson.

Both Secy. of State Alan Dixon and former Gov. Dan Walker had announced in September that they would not run for governor in 1978.

Bakalis, one of Thompson's few persistent critics, had been talking like a candidate for either governor or U.S. senator for some time, but generated considerable suspense and press coverage by his delay in announcing his final decision.

In 1970, Bakalis, then a political unknown, won election as superintendent of public instruction, defeating Republican incumbent Ray Page.

In 1976, he was elected comptroller by a sizeable margin over incumbent George W. Lindberg.

Dr. Bakalis before gaining elective office was assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and a professor in the Department of History at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

He resides in Downers Grove. He attended elementary and secondary schools in the Chicago area and received his degrees from Northwestern University.

The Chicago Tribune has commented, "In the primary, Gov. Thompson is unopposed on the Republican side in his bid for reelection."

"His regular-Democratic opponent, State Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis, has a contest of sorts with Dakin Williams, a Collinsville lawyer and former first assistant U.S. attorney for Eastern Illinois."

"Mr. Williams has run two unsuccessful races for the U.S. Senate nomination. "Our obvious choice is Mr. Bakalis, who has shown himself able to run a tight operation as comptroller and earlier as state superintendent of public instruction."

"His campaign so far has not been inspiring, and some of his pronouncements on state finances have been astonishingly wide of the mark, but he is a serious candidate."

"Mr. Williams clearly takes his own campaign seriously. "It seems to consist of sarcastic comments about his opponents; some charges against Mr. Thompson involving campaign contributions, which the governor has already answered."

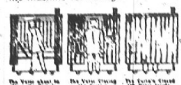

"A list of grievances against election officials and courts that ruled him off the ballot in two other attempts at elected office; and a program of generalities such as 'common sense in management.'"

"The list of grievances against election officials and courts that ruled him off the ballot in two other attempts at elected office; and a program of generalities such as 'common sense in management.'"

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING ON THE VOTING MACHINE

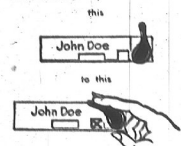

PULL the red handle of the curtain lever (lower left side of the machine) from the left to right as far as it will go and leave it there (this will unlock the curtain around you and close the machine for voting).

INSTRUCTIONS AFTER CLOSING THE CURTAIN

NOTE: At Primary Elections you are confined to make selections in only one party. The party of your choice in which you declared yourself to be a member.

On the ballot shown at the right you will find the title of office and the names of the candidates. Turn down the pointer at the right of the candidate you wish to vote for until an ☒ mark appears adjacent to each candidate's name and leave the ☒ mark showing.

Leaving the pointer or pointers down in their voting position, pull the red handle of the curtain lever to the left as far as it will go and leave it there (this will register your vote and return the pointers to their first position, after which the curtain will open).

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION, MACHINE VOTING

No votes are registered until you pull the curtain lever to the left to open the curtain. You can therefore MAKE AS MANY CHANGES IN YOUR BALLOT AS YOU WISH WHILE THE CURTAIN LEVER IS AT ITS EXTREME RIGHT (CURTAIN CLOSED).

The machine is so arranged that you cannot turn down more than the proper number of pointers for an office. For example, if only one candidate is to be elected to any office you can turn down only one pointer for that office. If more than one candidate is to be elected to an office, you can turn down as many pointers up to the number of candidates to be elected to that office.

There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the curtain lever to the left records your vote and returns the voted pointer up to its unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

I, EVELYN M. BOWLES, COUNTY CLERK OF MADISON COUNTY, ILLINOIS, DO HEREBY CERTIFY THE FOREGOING ARE THE OFFICIAL DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN BALLOTS TO BE VOTED AT THE PRIMARY ELECTION TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1978.

No opposition March 21 for Rep. Steele, Mrs. Wilson but only one likely to be elected in fall

There is no opposition for state representative Republican primary nominations March 21, since two are to be chosen and there are no candidates who have filed are Rep. Everett G. Steele of Glen Carbon and Mrs. Janet Wilson of Granite City.

But only one is assured of election in November in the 56th Illinois Legislative District.

Traditionally, Democrats lead the voting in this area and capture two of the three Illinois House seats.

Rep. Steele announced Nov. 25 that he would seek a third two-year House term.

Rep. Steele, 48, serves as a full-time legislator and is a member of the House Appropriations Committee, the House Transportation Committee and the Legislative Council.

During the past year, he successfully sponsored legislation to require out-of-state trucks to purchase fuel in Illinois — and pay motor fuel tax — while traveling on Illinois highways.

The bill is expected to generate millions of dollars in additional revenue for Illinois roads.

Other Steele-sponsored legislation, now signed by the governor, includes a measure providing protection to persons against telephone harassment, and a law prohibiting utility companies during winter months from disconnecting service without prior notice to local health officials.

The latter measure will prevent unnecessary loss of life or damage to property, he believes.

In recent weeks, Rep. Steele has been active in obtaining the assistance of Gov. Thompson in resolving problems threatening a shutdown at the Alton Box Board plant, which has 750 employees.

Steele has a degree from Washington University (St. Louis) in government, and maintains legislative offices in Alton, Granite City and Glen Carbon.

He has utilized extensively a mobile office to reach the public and various communities of his district.

"This has been especially effective in assisting senior citizens with applications for Illinois tax refunds," he comments.

He resides in Glen Carbon with his wife, Josephine and their sons, Bryan and Randy.

Steele devotes extensive time in legislative tasks and has been instrumental in serving as a liaison between the local area and the administration of Governor James R. Thompson.

A graduate of Granite City High School and Washington University, the representative served in the Army Adjutant Corps in 1961-63. He holds a degree in public administration.

Steele was a member of a state champion team at Washington U., and has served as president of Granite City Jaycees, the GCHS Alumni Association, Nelson PTA in Edwardsville and the Granite City Board of Realtors.

He is a past vice-president of the Granite City Scholarship Foundation, The Everett Steele Soccer Fields here are used by hundreds of youngsters each year in cooperation with the YMCA Soccer Association.

Mrs. Wilson, 212 Garfield Ave., is married to Ralph A. Wilson, general supervisor in industrial engineering at Granite City Steel, where he has been employed for 30 years.

"We are the parents of three children, Eric, 13, Elizabeth, 11½, and David, 5," she comments.

"I am seeking the position of state representative for the 56th District on the Republican ballot. No, I am not running against Everett Steele.

"I have lived in Granite City since 1961, when I moved here in order to teach a first grade class at McKinley School.

REP. EVERETT STEELE

MRS. JANET WILSON

"I did substitute work up to spring 1976. I received my real estate license in November 1976. I was born and raised in Urbana, Ill.

"Some of the reasons I am a candidate are the following: "There has been a small group controlling the politics of this area for too long, and my candidacy offers the people a choice to elect someone who would give representation to all the people in the 56th District.

"People who know me know of my honesty and willingness to work in my community and state.

"I have not been afraid to face new challenges nor strong opposition when I felt an injustice was being committed.

"We have sent representatives to Springfield who have failed to support this area, but who seem more concerned with Cook County.

"We of this region have a great potential for growth and development, but it won't happen until the voters of the 56th District send representation to Springfield to vote to send as many as possible of their tax dollars back into their district.

"If the legislators vote themselves a pay raise, I will refuse to take it. This cannot be justified when all departments are having to cut costs and the salaries are very adequate.

"I want my children and your children to grow up in a state that is debt free and solvent for the future.

"I want the worker to know he or she will have a retirement fund when that time of their life comes.

"I want the needy to receive help, and to get rid of the frauds and those who waste the state's tax dollars. Isn't this what the taxpayers want?

"Our biggest problem is receiving fair representation for our area from both local and update representatives.

"I plan to solve this problem by working for a fair share in order to obtain the following major improvements in this area:

"1. Attracting industry and small business.

"2. Improved area roads and railroad crossings.

"3. Look and-dam at Alton.

"4. Further development of SIUE — civic center, sports complex and an educational TV station.

"All of the above major items will bring additional jobs and taxes to our area," Mrs. Wilson says.

She holds numerous awards and has been active in many organizations.

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING ON THE VOTING MACHINE

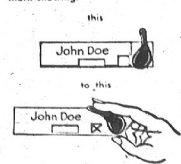

PULL the red handle of the curtain lever lower left side of the machine from the left to right as far as it will go and leave it there. This will allow the curtain around you and unlock the machine for voting.

INSTRUCTIONS AFTER CLOSING THE CURTAIN

NOTE: At Primary Elections you are confined to make selections in only one party. The party of your choice in which you declared yourself to be a member.

On the ballot shown at the right you will find the title of office and the names of the candidates. Turn down the pointer at the right of the candidates you wish to vote for until an "X" mark appears adjacent to each candidate's name and leave the "X" mark showing.

Leaving the pointer or pointers down in their voting position, pull the red handle of the curtain lever to the left as far as it will go and leave it there. This will register your vote and return the pointers to their first position, after which the curtain will open.

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION, MACHINE VOTING

No votes are registered until you pull the curtain lever to the left to open the curtain. You can therefore MAKE AS MANY CHANGES IN YOUR BALLOT AS YOU WISH WHILE THE CURTAIN LEVER IS AT ITS EXTREME RIGHT (CURTAIN CLOSED).

The machine is so arranged that you cannot turn down more than the proper number of pointers for an office. For example, if only one candidate is to be elected to any office you can turn down only one pointer for that office. If more than one candidate is to be elected to an office, you can turn down as many pointers up to the number of candidates to be elected to that office.

There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the curtain lever to the left records your vote and returns the voted pointer up to its unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

Car thieves proficient, Explorer members told

It is somewhat hard to believe, but a professional car thief can enter a locked car, start it and drive it away in seven seconds, faster than most people can with a key.

This fact was emphasized to members of Police Explorer Post 10-4 in Madison at the group's meeting Wednesday evening at the Madison Police Department by Illinois State Police Trooper Leo C. Sprankle.

Sprankle is assisting Post 10-4, which with Madison police will launch an "anti-vehicle" theft campaign in mid-April in Madison.

The VIS was established in an effort to zero in on the increasing vehicle theft problem, Sprankle said.

He noted that in the nine counties served by District 11, 90 percent of the auto thefts occur in the Alton-Granite City area.

"Where the people are is where the thieves are," Sprankle said.

Sprankle explained the functions of "cut shops." They operate "like mail order houses."

"The individual or garage needs a certain part of a truck like the seats or the fenders. They let the 'cut shop' know just what is needed, and the thief steals the same make vehicle and the cut shop supplies the part to order," Sprankle said.

Most of the stolen cars are for what Sprankle described as "kids out on joy rides."

Suggestions made by Sprankle to slow down a car theft include parking on well-lit streets or lots, always lock your car and take the key; support local laws against car thieves and stay alert to people around cars.

The installation of a "kill switch" that is hidden and must be thrown to start a car will help discourage theft along with burglar alarms on cars.

According to the FBI Uniform Crime Reports, over 65,000 vehicles are stolen in Illinois each year; 47 percent of bank robbery getaway cars have been stolen; 81 percent of stolen cars are used in other crimes; over 50 percent of the auto thefts are from private residences, apartments or residential streets; only about 20 percent of the thefts end in arrest of the offender.

Trooper Sprankle has been with the Illinois State Police for 19 years.

He graduated from Madison High School in 1948.

He and his wife, Anita, have two married children and the third is a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Student honored

Mary Ellen Gnojewski, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gnojewski, 1610 Fifth St., Madison, has received a certificate of merit from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission.

A senior at Assumption High School, she was cited in recognition of outstanding performance in the 1978-79 testing program.

Miss Gnojewski is interested in the sciences and presently is considering several different colleges to attend after high school graduation.

Honor roll student

Lynette Whittington of Granite City has been named to the honor roll at Mid-America Nazarene College, Olathe, Kan. The honor is granted to students carrying four or more courses and making a grade point average of 3.20 to 3.59.

She is a junior, majoring in elementary education at MANC, a Christian four-year liberal arts college. Mid-America ranks the largest in enrollment among the 21 private colleges and universities in the state of Kansas.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whittington, Granite City.

Parents Anonymous meets weekly

Sponsored by Lutheran Medical Center, the first hospital-related chapter of Parents Anonymous in this metropolitan area is now meeting on Thursdays from 1 to 2:30 p.m. at Trinity United Church of Christ, 4700 South Grand Ave.

There are no fees, and baby-sitting service is provided for parents who need to bring their children. The weekly meetings are under the direction of Mrs. Edie Binder and Miss Anne Tappel, both on the staff of the Community Mental Health Department at Lutheran Medical Center.

The chapter was organized in response to a need to help parents deal with their tensions and anxieties in relation to their children.

Parents Anonymous has chapters throughout the nation for parents who are interested in preventing damaging relationships with their children.

"At these weekly group meetings parents who are troubled about 'losing their cool' with their children can share experiences and feelings and learn how to cope with them," commented Mrs. Robert Nussbaum, coordinator of the program for Lutheran Medical Center.

Further information may be had by calling 314-772-1456, Ext. 737 or 738.

Snow Peas are becoming widely known as a new treat to add to a menu. It is a flat Chinese pea 3 1/2" long and about an inch wide. The pea within the pod is extremely small. Many Oriental dishes include the whole pod in the recipe - the tiny, tender pea within the pod adds a special taste to the crisp pod when eaten. Other names are Sit Dow, Sweet Dow and French Pea. Peas contain a good amount of Vitamin A and C and is also a good source of protein, calcium, iron and potassium. Try something deliciously different for dinner. Snow Peas are on sale this week at your friendly Kroger Store.
